DIRECTOR

From the Executive Director

Dear Sun City Homeowners and Residents,

It is hard to believe it is already March. It seems like time flies quickly here in Sun City Summerlin. I enjoy meeting and talking to so many of you as I am out and about in the community and I have learned from each of you that you are very interested in not only the activities and entertainment, but also the items of interest, facts behind the rumors and what items of business are being considered. So many of you have shared with me how much you appreciate my emails and bulletins that keep you up to date on Sun City Summerlin business that I thought I would share with everyone how they can get their news directly from me.

Send your email address to me at MitziM@suncitylv.com.

Once I have your email you will get the following news items directly from me:

- ♦ “Updates from Mitzi” – These are items of interest that I am working on or the Board is considering.
- ♦ “The Rumor Mills” – When there is a rumor floating around the community I will send you the rumor and the facts.
- ♦ “The Executive Directors Report from the Board Meetings” – This will keep you updated on the action the Board took on agenda items and what direction staff was given.
- ♦ “Board Meeting Agendas” – I just added this to the list of things I will email out. This will give you a chance to read what the Board will be discussing and acting on. As homeowners you are welcome to attend the meetings and address items you are interested or concerned about.
- ♦ “What Your Neighbors Are Talking About” – This is also a new report that started in February. In this email I will update you on items your friends and neighbors are concerned about. It is a way to keep the neighbor in neighborhood and revisit some items of concern that may have been forgotten over the years, but are important for community living.
- ♦ “Sun City Summerlin News” – This report started in February and will recap items of interest into one report to keep you informed. This report also will contain updates on items previously sent out by email to you.

Also, if you have not already done so, please join my Facebook Page “Sun City Summerlin Community Association, Inc.,” where you can follow me and many others in the community as we attend events and talk about issues important to the people who live here.

Many of you are already getting my “Updates from Mitzi.” If you are receiving these emails you are already signed up and will receive everything listed above. If you are not getting anything from me email me at MitziM@suncitylv.com and I will make sure you are added to the list.

PRESIDENT President's Message

Sun City
Is Only as Good as
WE Make It

Joe O'Connell,
President, SCSCAI
Board of Directors

This is a new cast of your Board of Directors. If they are as good as the past board it will be a good year. Our finances are in great shape and if we work hard this month preparing the budget, we will have another fiscally sound year. If you are interested in the preparation of the budget, check out the finance meeting.

March first will be a meeting for the selection of officers only - President, Vice-president, Treasurer and Secretary. At the next board meeting the Chairman of each committee will be appointed by the new President. Again, I can only ask if you are interested in any specific area of our association, get involved in that committee. Properties is the most interesting to me, as it is first to look at any new spending proposals. ARC hears all types of issues regarding homeowners requests to change their home areas. Remember, if you are planning to improve your property, make sure you have the approval of the ARC lady. Kate actually has some great ideas sometimes and has all the latest colors and types of landscaping.

Golf is a major amount of effort and only eight and one half percent of us golf. If you have interest in improving our golf courses make sure you attend Golf Oversight and present them. Brian and Donny are at each meeting and give their latest updates. Golf is one of the sports activities that you do not have to be really good at to enjoy. I forgot the other one. We have some really good instructors that can get you started without grooving those bad habits.

Security could always use some good men and women. When you read this I will be their newest volunteer. Remember, this place is only as good as WE make it. Get involved and volunteer.

BOD Oks Dust Collection Unit for Model Builders Club

The next CAP Committee meeting will be Tuesday, March 16, 8:30 a.m., at Desert Vista.

Ken Caroccia,
Chairman, Common Area Properties

At the January meeting, the Common Area Properties Committee approved four items – two significant and two minor – for submission to the Board of Directors with a recommendation to approve.

At the meeting, Stephen Linder and Jim Twohig of the Model Builders Club, accompanied by Club President Bruce Adams, presented a slide show that detailed the need for the installation of dust collection equipment for the Club's workshops. After some discussion, the Committee approved a resolution to submit the request to the BOD with a $4,000 limit. The proposal was approved at the January 9 BOD meeting and sent to the executive director for implementation using internal personnel.

The second major action concerned the ongoing investigation into the use of solar panels to help reduce Sun City's operating costs. SCSCAI Building Maintenance Supervisor Brandon Balek presented a financial summary that, using 2017 actuals, showed that a $19,040 net investment would be recouped in just over eight years. The committee approved sending the proposal to the BOD with an approval recommendation.

The two minor actions involved the sale of Association equipment. Now that the new table tennis units have been installed, SCSCAI

Fitness Director Kristie McWhorter reported that several residents have inquired about the possibility of purchasing an old unit. After some discussion, the committee decided that the units should be offered to all residents via an auction. Appropriate information will be sent via an eblast.

Dennis McGrew, SCSCAI's director of facility maintenance, reported that two very old trucks were available for disposal. It is expected that these vehicles will be sold at a commercial auction site.

A MUSIC NOTE

Arturo Sandoval's roots at The Smith Center run deep. The legendary jazz musician was among the first artists to ever grace our stage at our opening night concert in March 2012, and he has returned to amaze audiences in our theater time and again.

Arturo's achievements are simply incredible, from raising himself out of poverty in his native Cuba to sharing his talent with the world.

I even remember standing in the lobby of Cabaret Jazz with him five years ago, talking about life, music and history, when he shared with me that he had just learned he was going to be given the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

How cool is that? This amazing man not only won 10 Grammys, but now President Barack Obama was going to bestow upon him this prestigious honor.

Now you can see him live when he performs three concerts on March 30 and 31 at Myron's Cabaret Jazz. This is a rare opportunity to see a living legend up close, in our intimate, 240-seat room designed for experiencing live music.

I hope to see you there.

Myron Martin is president and chief executive officer of The Smith Center for the Performing Arts.

A POSTCARD FROM PALM SPRINGS Overnight Trips a Great Way to Scout Out a Vacation

“It’s like an introduction to a place,” said Sun City resident Ron Sipka, who purchased a ticket to the Palm Springs Getaway in January. The overnight trip, organized by SCSCAI’s Community Services Department, is part of a campaign by the department to offer residents new and exciting events in 2018. The Palm Springs trip featured an overnight stay in the Sonoran Desert town, along with an opportunity for residents to explore the nostalgic city’s shops and restaurants on their own. As part of the itinerary, free time was squeezed in between a visit to the historic Aerial Tramway, the largest rotating aerial tramway in the world, which included dinner at the top; and a visit to the famous Sunnylands Center and Gardens.

“The short tours give you an idea if you’d like to go back and stay longer,” said Ron. “I enjoyed the trip and would go back. I went to Palm Springs and took the tram tour about two years ago in the daytime. This trip was nice because it was a night trip and gave us the chance to see the city lights.

“As a solo traveler, I met people on the bus ride down and they invited me to sit with them at dinner. It was nice.”

In May, the Community Services Department is offering an overnight trip to the Verde Canyon Railroad and Flagstaff, Ariz. The 36-hour turnaround departs the Pinnacle Community Center at 6:30 a.m. on May 16 and returns to Sun City around 6:30 p.m. on May 17. GOLF SUMMERLIN At the Top of the Leaderboard

By Donny Long, SCSCAI Director of Golf

The quality of the golf experience offered by Golf Summerlin is no longer our little secret. The stay-and-play hidden treasure of Highland Falls, Palm Valley and Eagle Crest golf courses is being revealed nationwide by our golf marketing partner Citywide Golf Solutions, and we couldn't be happier.

After nearly 30 years of Las Vegas golf existence, it was time for us to sing our praises to the masses. While we have forever known the quality of courses, professional service and challenging play, it was when we first attended national golf shows that we learned that the stay-and-play golf market was oblivious to our part of the Las Vegas golf world.

Sometimes "build it and they will come" isn't the answer. So we hit the road, meeting with golfers across the country, putting our scenic layouts on display both in person and in all forms of traditional and digital marketing. Our successful partnership with Cody Law of Citywide Golf Solutions and his call-center sales team has quickly put our results in red numbers – in the golf sense. Our plans and Citywide's execution added to the resort atmosphere provided by the Suncoast, and the effort has put us at the top of the leaderboard.

According to Law, "Our initial focus was to test a few key markets in the surrounding states and grab the low hanging fruit. We knew if they would come play the courses we would capture their interest for years to come. The results were almost immediate. From July 1st through December 31st we were able to achieve a net increase of over 6,000 rounds played and over $200,000 in net revenue increase over the same period from the year before. Overall, we have already booked over 10,000 rounds of golf and $300,000 in revenue.”

That kind of growth in such a short amount of time is pretty unheard of in the current golf climate. The feedback from players of all abilities from across the country has been nothing but positive. Low or high handicap players love our facilities due to great course conditions, comfortable accommodations and a fair price. All we need is the guest to visit our facilities one time and they will come back.

As always, our Sun City residents come first. They continue to enjoy a 14-day-in-advance tee time booking window, designated club days and several special events. As you might expect, Highland Falls tends to be the favorite for non-resident guests. You can't beat the views, service, course condition or food at the Tavern. Highland Falls has won the Best of Las Vegas award in 2013, 2015, 2016 and 2017.

When non-resident players are leaving our courses with comments such as “I didn't know this place existed, I'll be back,” we know we are making birdies.

Tips to Securing Your Property

Recently, one Security Patrol volunteer on his routine patrol noticed two residences that had packages and a notice left on the door that would indicate to anyone looking for possible targets that the houses were unoccupied.

nization attached to the door knob or gate is a message to an observer that the residence may be empty. A potential thief could observe the property for a few days and if the item isn't removed, the thief will assume the house is empty.

Newspapers in driveways, packages left at the door in full view from the street and notices attached to doors signaling an upcoming repair are invitations for a burglary.

Security Patrol provides a service called vacation house checks. Once a resident completes the request form at the Security base office, a Patrol volunteer will check the residence every other day looking for evidence of attempted break-in. If the resident, who is away, expects a package or has forgotten to cancel the newspaper delivery, the Patrol volunteer will place the items in a less visible area on the property.

Security Patrol cannot emphasize enough that newspapers in driveways, packages left at the door in full view from the street and notices attached to doors notifying the resident of coming repairs are invitations for a burglary.

It is recommended that if a resident doesn't want a vacation house check, then the next best approach is to ask a neighbor or family member to monitor the property for items left by delivery trucks. Even a pamphlet from a charity orga-

Signs reading "Rental" and "House for Sale by Owner" are vulnerable to break-ins. Friends, neighbors and private security companies are good defenses against burglary.

While Sun City Summerlin Security Patrol can help to discourage potential burglaries by driving through the community and showing a presence, residents must take preventative measures to secure their property.

If you have questions, please phone Security Patrol, 254-2303.

NOW AND THEN George and Georgie Green

My parents, George and Georgie Green, moved to Las Vegas in 1980 after retiring from business in Portland, Ore. They had a wonderful house with a view there and George, in particular, wanted another view. But when they came to Las Vegas they soon discovered you could only get a view here, as George said, "If you "stood on a chair on the second floor."

They bought a condo on the east side of town and were content with enjoying traveling and Las Vegas. They soon learned of the new development, Sun City Summerlin, and rushed out to see the models in Phase I. No views. However, after a few years, some friends of theirs called them about the new models in Phase II and they again raced out to see them. They fell in love with the Minden model, exactly as it was. After looking at the other models they realized they just liked this one Minden model – it was their dream house.

It was the first model home past the sales center and it had a magnificent view of the valley from every room in the house except the west bedroom. It also had a small decorator pond with a waterfall, a lovely garden and beautiful decorator touches and furnishings throughout. They wanted it just the way it was. The saleswoman explained the models would not be for sale until after the Phase II was sold out, and then they would be offered by lottery. So, George and Georgie put their names into the lottery and waited.

For three years they dragged every family member, friend or neighbor out to see "their" house. One day, a miracle happened – the saleswoman called and said the models were for sale and their name had been drawn in the lottery. They were thrilled!

They sold everything, including the kitchen sink, and moved in on April 1, 1996, along with all the other new model home buyers on the street. They had many happy times together. Georgie and one other neighbor are the only remaining original owners. George passed away a few years ago. I came here to be with both of them and I have stayed.

The Model Home Center, which was immediately adjacent to George and Georgie's model, was a beautiful property with many gorgeous evergreen trees surrounding it and a full sweeping view of the valley that included all the north, east and southern mountains. When Phase II closed, the sales office was torn down and all the trees were carefully dug up and placed elsewhere in Sun City. What remained were five over-sized lots that were then sold where huge new custom homes were built.

My mother, Georgie, is still delighted being here in her dream house and I am just as delighted to be here with her.

~ Stu Gershon and Kitty Wright

George and Georgie Green won their Minden model in a lottery of the model homes for Phase II. The couple moved into their "dream house" in 1996 after waiting three years for the sales opportunity.

Electronic Focus Group Update

SCSCAI Board member Barbara Holden presented initial results from Sun City's Electronic Focus Group during the February 6 Board of Directors' meeting. According to Barbara, a summary of the findings will be presented to the Board at the March 6 meeting. In April, project organizers will return to the Board with detailed data and a recommended timeline for a plan that makes use of the information obtained.

Overall, Barbara reported that there were 1,285 responses to the survey, with 1,793 comments logged. Of the responses, 98% were made electronically. The data suggests that "all age groupings were very comfortable with electronic media." Of those who responded, 19.7% were under 65 years old; 46.5% were between the ages of 65-74; and 34.1% were 75 years old and over. The majority of responses (45.4%) came from residents who have lived in Sun City for five years or less.

A cursory summation of the questionnaire by project organizers revealed that "Residents clearly communicated their desire for improvement, but also what a desirable community we live in."

Tasty Things Are Baking at The Summit

SCSCAI pastry chef Nicole Holland brings her love of baking to The Summit. Residents may enjoy her creations during the Sunday brunch, or order her fast-becoming famous cinnamon rolls to take home. Photo by Stu Gershon/Link.

Do you know the Summit now has a Le Cordon Bleu-trained pastry chef as part of its culinary staff? Nicole Holland joined The Summit team late in 2017 and has been delighting Sun City Summerlin residents ever since.

Nicole's love of baking began while she was still in kindergarten. She and her grandmother, who would visit Nicole's family each month from a nearby state, would bake cookies together during these visits — all kinds of cookies. Fast-forward a bit. Nicole followed her passion and trained at Le Cordon Bleu's Minnesota location. She said, "Give me butter, sugar and an oven, and I am happy."

Her cinnamon rolls are already a big hit with Sun City residents. She also loves to create muffins of every ilk. She enjoys making cakes for special occasion — weddings, birthdays and anniversaries. And she is able to create cakes with shapes that have special meaning for the celebrant. Nicole also can provide more savory fare. Examples of some savory items are quiches and stuffed croissants.

Each Sunday, at the Brunch at The Summit, several of Nicole's creations have many employing "the desert first" plan. However, the more savory brunch offerings, beginning with the new omelet/egg Station, are also ever so tasty.

Do you know that in addition to arranging for Nicole to create something special for your event at The Summit, you can custom order items from Nicole to serve at club events, or in your home? To arrange for baked items for your gathering, call The Summit, 240-1313; or email SCSCAI Food and Beverage Director Rick Sciascia, Ricks@suncitylv.com. Just arrange for a pickup time and the freshly baked items will be carefully packaged for your special occasion.

New Surveillance Cameras in Fitness Centers

As many residents have noticed, new surveillance cameras were installed in and around the fitness centers during December and January. This was approved by the Board of Directors during the November Board meeting, and the IT and Fitness departments moved quickly to initiate the project.

All of the cameras are functioning properly and already have proven to be very helpful in several situations involving resident safety. We have four cameras each at the Pinnacle and Mountain Shadows; six cameras at Sun Shadows; and nine cameras at Desert Vista. The cameras are motion-sensored so they only record footage when there is movement within the camera frame.

Security cameras were installed at all Association fitness centers, following BOD approval in November. Camera feeds go directly to the fitness monitor desk at each center.

When accidents or safety incidents occur, video footage can be pulled to be used for figuring out what happened. This will protect both the individual resident and the Association at large.

These cameras have been placed to observe various areas inside and outside of the fitness centers – entrances, exits, lobbies, outside of locker room entrances (not inside), cardio and strength exercise areas, indoor and outdoor pool areas, and outdoor pool gates. Although not all areas in the fitness center are under surveillance, most common areas and high traffic areas are being recorded.

Q: Who has access to or sees the video footage?

A: All camera feeds go directly to the fitness monitor desk at that specific location, where the monitor can zoom in and view certain areas of the fitness center. Also, the director of fitness, executive director and IT manager have access to view live or recorded footage remotely via computer, tablet or phone.

Q: Why did the Association decide to get surveillance cameras?

A: Accidents happen in the blink of an eye and these cameras will help us capture those moments. For liability reasons, having video footage will protect both the individual resident and the Association. There also have been numerous issues of theft in fitness centers, which is why we are specifically observing the entrances to the locker rooms.

If you have any questions about the new surveillance cameras, please contact the Fitness Office at 363-1486 or fitness@suncitylv.com.

Safe lifting techniques and preventive stretching are not enough to completely protect caregivers from the physical strain of the job, but they do have an impact on reducing injury. Join Dr. Mike Rantissi, PT/OT, of Advanced Manual Therapy, and learn how you can prevent getting injured when caring for others. He will demonstrate safe lifting techniques and exercises to help prevent injury, and he will discuss what to do in case you are injured.

MR. GYM ETIQUETTE

Gyms bring lots of people into close proximity with each other. Be sensitive to others by avoiding wearing heavily scented colognes or lotions, and make sure to wear freshly laundered workout clothing for each session. It's also wise to be aware that some odors may be undetectable to the person themselves. If you do notice that a fellow resident has an offensive odor, please refrain from confronting the person yourself, but gently bring this to the attention of the Fitness Monitor to handle in a respectful manner.

How to Change your Strength Program

Charli Sue Douglass
SCSCAI Certified
Fitness Specialist,
CPFT, GFI

Last month I talked about changing up your cardio exercise program to add variety and challenge to your existing program. This month we will be talking about how our bodies adapt to strength or resistance training and what we can do to update our programs and wake up our muscles and brain.

When you do the same activity all the time, your body gets used to it and becomes very efficient. Eventually, that adaptation means you burn fewer calories even when you're doing the same amount and type of exercise. The solution is to challenge your body in a new way.

The exciting part about changing your workout program is that it also can enhance your brain function by improving your memory and thinking skills. It's a matter of keeping your exercise options open and allowing your body to adapt to new stimuli so your muscles can become stronger and your brain stays alert.

There are many ways to change up your strength training program. Here are just a few simple ones to get you started:

Get off the machine! Try using dumbbells to do an exercise. For example, instead of the chest press, use dumbbells to do a chest press or flies.

Slow it down. Change your tempo. Slowing down your lifting and lowering pace can make a big difference with your muscles. Try lifting for 3 seconds and lowering for 5 seconds. Any change will wake up your muscles.

Try a circuit with no rests. Instead of doing two to three sets of one exercise at a time and resting in between, try doing one set of all your exercises in a row with little or no rest in between. This will also increase your heart rate and help you burn more calories.

Take a group fitness class. Structured classes with an instructor can speed up your workout and teach you some new exercises.

Embracing change is the best way to continue to make positive changes for your body and mind. Try one or two of these ideas and see where it takes you.

Fitness specialists are available to help you with new exercises and ideas at the fitness centers and in group fitness classes. Feel free to reach out to us in the Fitness Department if you have any questions or need assistance.

PREPAREDNESS Neighborhood Watch

The First 72 Is On You!

"By failing to prepare, we are preparing to fail." ~ Benjamin Franklin

Residents are invited to attend a 90-minute class to learn how to survive at home for three days (72 hours) if Sun City is affected by an emergency situation.

The City of Las Vegas' Office of Emergency Management provides training for and coordinates the Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) program. CERT training includes disaster preparedness, fire suppression, medical operations, search and rescue, team organization, weapons of mass destruction/terrorism and disaster psychology.

Neighborhood Watch/Community Preparedness Committee volunteers Bruce Spitzer and Bill Holden have graduated the entire CERT course. Accordingly, they are sharing their expertise in a series of safety classes with Sun City residents.

Following a major disaster, professional first-responders providing fire, police and medical services may not be able to meet the demand of these services. A vast number of victims, communication failures and road blockages may prevent people from accessing the emergency services they have come to expect by dialing 911. In Sun City, residents might have to rely on each other for help to meet their immediate life-sustaining needs, especially if there is no warning, as in an earthquake.

If an emergency situation makes it advisable for Sun City residents to stay inside their homes, are you prepared to remain there for up to 72 hours? Will you have non-perishable food in flip-top cans? Do you have a battery-operated radio, a cell phone charger, flash lights and extra batteries? Do you have an adequate supply of your prescription medicines on hand? Which possessions will you want to take with you if, unexpectedly, you must leave your home? If the electric garage door opener isn't working can you manually open the door?

If a power disruption affects Sun City, are you prepared to cope without heat, lights, television, radio, telephone, refrigerator, microwave and your computer?

What will you do if water service is disrupted? Do you have emergency water stored in your home? Your kitchen is for cooking. Never use the stove or oven to heat your home, and do not operate a generator inside your home or garage.

Evacuating Your Home

Know how to manually open your garage door in a power outage. Plan where your family members will meet after evacuating their homes. How will you know if everyone is safe and where they are? Assign someone unaffected by the emergency for everyone to call.

Decide now, before an emergency strikes. If you must leave your home, the amount of time you have to pack will depend on the existing hazards. Some severe weather, fire or flood emergencies allow no time to gather even basic necessities, which makes it essential to plan ahead. You will want your will and insurance papers, including health, life, car and property. You'll want to have ready cash, credit cards, account numbers, blank checks, telephone numbers and keys. Take a multipurpose pocket knife, flashlight, cell phone, battery charger and batteries. Remember irreplaceable family photographs and wear your heirloom jewelry so that it does not become lost or stolen. Pack a change of clothing and wear sturdy shoes. You might be grateful to have a camera, hand sanitizer, a tooth brush, bottled water and a first aid kit.

Have a carrying case ready for your pet, as well as a pet collar, identification tag, leash, pet food, drinking water and a water bowl. If food supplies become scarce or unavailable, you might be glad to have packed a jar of peanut butter, some energy bars and bottled water.

Try to form a good practice of not letting your car's fuel gauge fall below the half-tank point. In a power outage, gas stations may be closed or unable to pump gas. And, if you are able to do so, try to offer help to others who may not be as well-prepared as you.

Water and Gas Home Safety Classes Widely Attended in January

CPC's instructors were overwhelmed by the number of residents who attended the home safety classes that were held in January. Because the instruction included hands-on practice to learn how to turn off the water to your home correctly, each class size was limited to 30 residents. Since the committee answered more than 120 calls from residents wanting to attend the emergency safety classes, the room size was expanded and three classes were scheduled at Desert Vista.

CERT-trained committee volunteers instruct residents how to shut off the water supply to their homes from an actual utility box. The January class was the first in a series of upcoming safety classes sponsored by the Neighborhood Watch/Community Preparedness Committee. March's class, focusing on sheltering in place, is scheduled for Monday, March 12. Two sessions will be offered – one at 10 a.m.; the other at 7 p.m. at Desert Vista. Residents may register at Neighborhoodwatch@suncitylv.com, or call 658-4486.

Answers to Some Frequently Asked Questions

Sidewalks – Las Vegas Municipal Code 13.56.040 Maintenance and Repair of Existing Sidewalks: “It shall be the responsibility of the property owner to maintain and repair existing sidewalks whenever necessary to the health, safety, welfare and benefit of the public.”

If the damage is caused by a utility company box in the ground, contact the applicable company and advise them of the problem. If you live in an attached unit, contact your management company.

Parking – Since Sun City does not own our streets, Nevada Law prohibits the Association from restricting street parking. Anyone can park in the street as long as no other city regulation is broken. For instance, the vehicle must have current registration and be operable. It is unlawful to park a vehicle in the street for more than 72 consecutive hours. Moving a vehicle every three days a few feet will not avert a violation. Parking on any portion of the landscape or landscape rock is not permitted.

RV Parking – RVs and mobile homes may not park in residential streets without first obtaining a temporary RV permit from the city of Las Vegas in order to allow for loading and unloading. A permit allows street parking for a maximum 48-hour period. If an additional permit is desired, a minimum of 72 hours from the previous expiration is required. No more than six permits may be acquired during any three-month period. Permits may be revoked for abuse, misuse, ineligibility or other good cause. All permits are issued Monday to Thursday, 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Parking Office, 500 S. Main St., Las Vegas, NV 89101, or online at <https://secure3.lasvegasnevada.gov/eparking>. For additional information, call 229-4700 or 800-228-3332.

Las Vegas Municipal Code 11.52.305 states: “Except as otherwise provided in this Section, it is unlawful for a person to stand, park or store, upon any residential street, a commercial vehicle, recreational vehicle, trailer, or any combination of vehicle and trailer having an overall length of (24 ft.) twenty-four feet or more, or an unladen weight in excess of (8,000 lbs.) eight thousand pounds.”

A permit issued for recreational vehicle parking shall specify the location and vehicle to which it pertains, the date and time permitted parking may begin, and the date and time the permit expires. The permit must be displayed in or on the vehicle in a conspicuous location that is clearly visible from the street.

Blocking sidewalks – We have many residents who enjoy walking around the community on nice days. Some of our residents use walkers or motorized wheelchairs. Las Vegas Municipal Code 11.52.130 (A)(6) states: “No person shall stop, stand or park a vehicle except when necessary to avoid conflict with other traffic in compliance with the law or the directions of a police officer or a traffic control device, in any of the following places: On or blocking sidewalks.”

If you are inconvenienced by a vehicle on the sidewalk, you can call parking enforcement at 229-6432. If you park your vehicle on your driveway, please make sure that it is pulled up enough so as not to block the sidewalk. Also, on trash days, do not block the sidewalk with your containers or trash bags.

‘Looking Forward’ to the Adventure of Viet Nam

Vince Acosta in Viet Nam. Note the field shower in the background. The drum often had previously contained Agent Orange.

Viet Nam, 1969, up close and personal: Hot and humid, lush scenery and dangerous times for young Vince Acosta. But those were times yet to come.

Born and raised in the San Francisco Bay area, Vince always knew he wanted to go into the Army. So, when the draft board called in 1968, he was ready to go.

“This was my war,” he said. Vince was sent to Ft. Lewis in Washington State for basic training after which he went to Ft. Leonard Wood, Miss., to be trained as a combat engineer. (The Army has five combat arms: Infantry, Artillery, Armor, Corps of Engineers and Signal Corps.) After completing the engineer training, Vince was given 18 days leave before being sent to Viet Nam.

“I was actually looking forward to it. They put us on a Flying Tigers airliner and the adventure began. The long flight over there was one big party. We had no idea what was waiting for us. What should have been the first clue came as we left the plane and I jokingly told the flight attendant that I would see her in a year. She just looked down and didn’t say anything. I guess she knew that many of us wouldn’t be making the return flight.”

Initially assigned to the 97th Replacement Depot in Long Binh, Vince was soon sent to A Company, 70th Combat Engineers, 35th Engineer Group, 18th Engineer Brigade.

“The 18th Brigade was responsible for engineering operations in the northern half of South Viet Nam. That area was mostly mountains. Our duties were varied. We built bridges, established base camps for the infantry, built revetments for helicopters and most anything else that was needed. Charlie often blew up our bridges at night and we had to rebuild them ASAP. More often than not, Charlie would be waiting for us. We had to establish our own perimeters and protect ourselves while rebuilding. The mortar attacks were the worst. That’s something I don’t like to talk about,” Vince said.

During this time, the company moved often.

“Home became wherever we were and that was usually some 60 miles ahead of the Battalion HQ. On top of that, we bathed using makeshift showers built from empty Agent Orange drums. Who knew?”

December 1969 finally arrived and the one-year tour was complete. It was time for Vince to go home.

“I had mixed emotions about leaving at the end. I was settled in and Nam had become home – the Engineers, my job,” he said.

Vince did go home, but it seemed somehow different. “It felt like everyone had changed. I didn’t like them anymore.”

But, of course, it was Vince that had changed.

Assigned to the 24th Infantry Division, Vince was stationed at Ft. Riley Kansas. “To me, it was another 9 to 5 job. My wife and I rented a house off base, but it was really a tough adjustment going from combat to normalcy overnight. It was too much for my (first) wife. The marriage didn’t survive.”

Eight months after being assigned to Ft. Riley, Vince’s hitch was complete and the transition to full-time civilian life began. While still in the service, he applied to the post office and was immediately accepted. He was able to go directly from one job to another, and he was back in the Bay area working in the Oakland post office sorting room. But he was still restless, and after five years he left that job for one outdoors. He became a longshoreman.

A few years later, Vince found his true, postwar calling: He became a cut man.

Pop quiz: What is a cut man?

- A. An assistant director whose job it is to yell “Cut” at the end of a scene.
- B. A butcher in a wholesale meat market.
- C. A ringside attendant for professional boxers.

If you said A you are probably watching too much TV. If you guessed B, nice try. Probably a good career move, but not the one Sun City resident Vince Acosta chose.

If you said C, you’re right. After years of unsettled times after leaving the army, Vince found his second career.

“I grew up in what was probably the worst part of Oakland, Calif. You learned very early how to defend yourself or you suffered the consequences. As a kid, I spent a lot of time at the Boys Club, where I learned to box. I actually liked being in and around the ring, but I’ll admit I became less interested as I moved into the teen years and discovered another distraction – girls,” Vince said.

“But I never completely forgot the ring. My boyhood friend Charley Shipes became a professional boxer and I followed his career, watching him move up the ranks until he became welterweight champion in 1968. Charley was managed by Dick Sadler, who eventually managed George Foreman and Sonny Liston. That connection was my entry into the business.”

Who you know always has been important, but not as important as what you know. There were no formal apprenticeships, but Vince started spending his free time at the boxing rings watching the trainers and cut men at work.

“It didn’t take long for me to get the hang of it. I was able to pick up the best practices of the professionals. I also found that I had an intuitive knowledge of what was happening in the ring. That allowed me to spot things during a fight that would give our fighter an edge. I would always work through the trainer, never directly with the fighter. That talent would help me move up the ranks in time,” he added.

The connection with Sadler eventually got Vince jobs with small-time fighters. It was a start. Sadler managed and trained several well-known boxers, including Freddie Little and Archie Moore, who was to become a personal friend of the Acostas. But much of that work was in Las Vegas, then the fight capital of the world. So Vince moved to Las Vegas to be where the action was. And it paid off. He worked his way up the ladder being able to work with more skilled fighters.

“Eventually, I got to work for George Foreman at one of his championship fights. In an everyday fight, the boxer is allowed three ringside helpers. In a championship battle, that goes to four. I was the No. 4 man. But George never really needed a cut man. He was never cut. He was that good. I worked with George for about seven years.”

At one point, Vince met Luis Tapia. Luis was a manager and trainer for some 27 boxers, including six-time world champion and the first female fighter to win the BKB lightweight title, Layla McCarter, and Friday ‘the 13th’ Ahunanya, who went on to win both the NABA and PABA heavyweight titles.

Work was steady, with Vince working as many as 160 fights a year.

“I got to see more of the world as a cut man than I did while in the army. Many of the fights were held overseas in places like Germany and New Zealand,” he said.

But there was another fringe benefit. As Vince became better known in the industry, he had the opportunity to work with some of Don King’s fighters. He also knew Bobby Goodman, King’s second in command, who would often give Vince ringside tickets for his fights – tickets that retailed for $1,000 each!

When asked what were among the more memorable moments in his career, Vince thought about it for a moment and said, “It was late in my career when one day I was leaving the dressing room at the MGM Grand when I ran into James Gandolfini, the actor from ‘The Sopranos,’ and Charles Dutton, who had appeared on that show and in many, many more movies. The pair approached me and said that they were big fans. I was speechless. To think that these two famous actors who had a large fan base of their own were fans of me!”

Vince’s wife Gail had a more humorous anecdote. They were relaxing at home in Las Vegas one day when George Foreman’s cousin Pop and his trainer Charley Shipes stopped by as they often did when they were in town. It was a good place to relax away from the casinos (and the food was better.) Pop brought a load of Forman’s laundry with them and asked her to run it through the washing machine. No big deal.

“But as I was taking the sweat suit out of the dryer, I noticed a loose $10 bill, then another and another. It seems that George had a role of 10s in his pocket that he used for tips,” she said.

I got to see more of the world as a cut man than I did while in the army. Many of the fights were held overseas in places like Germany and New Zealand.”

CLUB SPOTLIGHT

RACQUETBALL CLUB Around-the-wall Action

Looking for a way to stay fit, get some exercise and have fun doing it all at the same time? Give racquetball a try. Sun City has a Club with about 35 members. New officers were elected for 2018. They include Pete Ruopp, president; Doug Lau, vice president; and Annie Brown, secretary/treasurer. One goal for 2018 is to increase membership. We would like you to be a part of this growth.

We have one court in Sun City at the Mountain Shadows Fitness Center, 9107 Del Webb Blvd. The Club is open to men and women at all skill levels. Dues are $10 a year.

Racquetball is a combination of tennis, handball, Pickleball and squash. Singles are played between two people and doubles consist of four players. If you have ever participated in any of these sports, racquetball will be an easy progression for you. It is a very simple game to learn. People have fun the first time out on the court.

Basically the game starts with a serve. Once the ball is in play, your opponent can play the shot using the side wall, back wall or ceiling, and must return the shot before the ball bounces on the floor twice. There are exceptions to these rules, but that is the basic concept. Sounds complicated, but once you actually play it, you pick up the rules quickly.

A schedule of dedicated Club times is posted outside the court and on the fitness center bulletin board. The equipment needed is a good pair of non-marking court shoes, a racquet and protective eyewear. The Club can even supply you with a racquet and eyewear as you decide about joining. Court time is free to all registered homeowners. All members are happy to teach others how to play the game. Many new and interesting plans are being developed to increase the participation and enjoyment of the game.

Any questions, concerns or observations can be directed to Doug Lau, 522-9723.

Hope to see some new faces on the court in the near future.

No partners are necessary. Lessons are available. Join us on Wednesdays, 6 p.m., at Mountain Shadows. Call John, 330-603-7863.

CLUB SPOTLIGHT

GUN CLUB ~ Stu Gershon/Link

Members Benefit From Experience of Retired Law Enforcement Personnel

The Sun City Gun Club Charter states, "The purpose of the SCGC is to perpetuate the practice of safe indoor and outdoor shooting; to perpetuate the spirit of good fellowship among rifle and pistol shooters; to encourage the use of guns in competitive and target shooting; and to protect, improve and increase the privileges of shooters."

The Sun City Gun Club generally meets on the second Friday of the month at 1 p.m. at Desert Vista. The current membership is in excess of 190 members and is composed of men and women of all levels of experience and background. Some of the members have prior military experience, others are retired law enforcement, but many are novices new to firearms who are looking for a place to learn about firearms for personal defense and/or concealed carry. The Club is a great place to meet fellow advocates of the Second Amendment, is a resource for Nevada gun laws (how and where to secure a concealed carry permit) and provides opportunities to go shooting with other Club members. The Club also hosts an annual BBQ in the spring and a holiday luncheon in December. As of 2017, the Club started a website, scsgunclub.com. On this website members can find notices of upcoming meetings and guest speakers and more.

The Club conducts three classes for its members:

Course No. 1 provides novices a basic introduction to firearms and instruction on the types of firearms available in the current marketplace, as well as how to go about selecting one. This course is taught by members who are retired law enforcement firearms trainers.

Course No. 2 reviews how to disassemble/assemble, and how to clean and maintain your firearm. This course is taught by retired law enforcement officers who were weapon armorers.

Course No. 3 is presented by one of our members who is a retired attorney and an NRA instructor, who presents the legal/liability aspects of defensive shooting and the psychological impacts of such an event.

Golf (Ladies) Executive

Spring has sprung and that means our invitational, "Yo Ho Ho and a Hole in One," is just around the corner: May 1, to be exact. It is not too late to submit your application, but hurry as you don't want to be left out of all the fun. You can obtain an application on our web site, www.scsleg.com. On March 6, we start our three-week Eclectic Tournament. We are accepting new members. We play every Tuesday morning at Eagle Crest. If you are interested in joining our club, you may contact Sandy Wright, 661-478-0076, our membership chair. Tee times for March are 7:30 a.m. with a 7 a.m. check-in. Our general meeting and lunch is the fourth Tuesday of the month, Desert Vista. Lunch is served at 11:30 a.m.; meeting at noon. This month the meeting is March 27.

Golf (Men's) 18 Hole

Hopefully, as you read this, SCS was able to bring back the cup from our home and home with Revere last month. March is a busy month. March 13 will host your St. Paddy Day Tournament. On March 15, we begin the annual Club Match Play Championship, starting with individual qualifying play followed by match play through the finals scheduled for April 5. Please see the 2018 calendar on our site for details. In our first Thursday event of the year, there was an issue with the sand bunkers. All the bunkers had been raked by the ground crew prior to our tournament and they were tourney ready. However, on one of the holes an inconsiderate golfer walked over the rake to hit his shot and walked over the rake again to exit the bunker without raking thus leaving footprints. The rake handles are universal, they fit all size hands, man, woman and child. It is reported that non-golfers have been using the golf course as a walking trail. The courses are strictly for play. If you encounter these individuals, please let them know they are acting against an ordinance and then report them to the pro shop. If you have questions, check out our website, 18holers.org; or call Colbert, 859-979-4376.

CLUB SPOTLIGHT

PAN CLUB ~ Jeannette Carrillo/Link Members Cash In on Tournament Fun

Spades are the king of this game enjoyed by many Sun City residents who are members of the community Pan Club. Every Tuesday, members meet at Mountain Shadows, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., to try their luck at out-strategizing their table mates.

If you're new to Sun City and are interested in Pan, or if you just enjoy the game and would like to investigate joining the Club, President Linda Harrington would love to hear from you.

Pan is a 19th Century gambling card game similar to rummy. The game is traditionally played using a 320-card deck constructed from eight decks of playing cards, removing all eights, nines, 10s and jokers. The winner of the game is the one who plays all their cards with no discard.

On January 9, the Pan Club hosted a tournament that welcomed 80 players composed of Sun City residents and their guests. The morning kicked off with a catered lunch and featured eight great raffle prizes from area restaurants that were presented before the first game was dealt. What ensued was three and a half hours of tournament action that resulted in payouts to high hand and most money winners at each of the 10 tables.

"It was a great day, quick for two tables that finished shortly after 2 p.m. and the rest by 3:30 p.m.," Linda said.

For more information on the Pan Club, call Linda at 702-778-1436.
