Board of Directors' Election Top Event of the Month

The Residents' Forum hosted a Meet the Candidates Night in January.

Good day to all our wonderful Sun City Summerlin residents. A few words about what you read in the Link. The notes in the Link are due to the Link editor about 30 days prior to publication, so I'm writing this note on January 1, 2020, for the February 2020 edition of the Link. The Link staff then edits the content and prepares the magazine for publication, which you will receive toward the end of January. We are fortunate to have such a great magazine, keeping us all up to date on our community. Thank you, Jeannette and Stacie!

During February, all SCSCAI homeowners will join their homeowner brethren in voting to fill five Board of Director positions. The January issue of the Link included a one-page note from each candidate summarizing his or her qualifications for being on the Board. Please read what each candidate wrote and use that information to help you decide who to vote for. On January 8, the Residents' Forum hosted an evening with the candidates, where the candidates introduced themselves and answered questions from the audience. Candidates Night is a great event and I hope you were able to attend. If you could not attend, talk to your friends who did attend and ask their opinion of the candidates. Consider all the information you can gather and then select the candidates you will vote for. The selection of SCSCAI Board members deserves your thoughtful attention.

When Del Webb incorporated SCSCAI, he included in the Articles of Incorporation and the Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions (CC&Rs) many restrictions as to what the Board and Executive Director can do. Nevada Revised Statute (NRS) 116 adds about 400 more pages. Yes, 400 pages of HOA dos and don'ts. What that means to you is that many times the Board cannot do what might seem to be a great idea because it could be violating the CC&Rs or Nevada law. Can those rules be changed? Yes, but it is VERY difficult to do and not done very often. In the case of NRS 116, the Nevada Legislature would have to make the change (good luck with that) and to change the CC&Rs, it takes a vote of the homeowners. There are two changes to our governing documents that require homeowner approval on this year's ballot. Consider their impact and then vote according to your assessment of each change.

And as a final note, a no-brainer that might even save your life. The SCSCAI Security Patrol keeps a database of emergency contact information for homes in SCSCAI that the Security Patrol uses to contact you or your designated representative if something is amiss, such as water leaking from under the garage door or a friend reports they have not seen you for several days, etc. It's an opt-in program that you must submit the information or not, your choice. The information you provide will only be used by the Security Patrol for the stated use; it is never shared with anyone else. The emergency contact form is available from the Security Patrol HQ at Desert Vista, the SCSCAI Administration Office at Mountain Shadows and at many activities such as Residents's Forum events. Please, please have a current emergency contact form on file with our Security Patrol.

VOTE NOW
Sun City Board of Directors' Election

As you read this article, you should have received your packet in the mail to vote for your choice of candidates running to serve on the SCSCAI Board of Directors. If you have not received your large, white envelope with the red marking "SCSCAI Election Material Enclosed, Time Sensitive," please contact the Administration Office at Mountain Shadows, 9107 Del Webb Blvd.

The envelope contains everything you need to know about the 10 candidates running for the Board. There are statements prepared by the candidates to acquaint you with their qualifications and experience, as well as a disclosure statement, required by Nevada State Law, which states that the candidate is a member in good standing with the Association and has no conflict of interest in serving on the Board. Candidates are:

- | | |
|-----------------|-----------------|
| Ellen Bachman | Michael Pennock |
| Jeff Rorick | David Putney |
| Darrell Harness | Sandy Krause |
| Pei Zhang | John Berthelsen |
| Leo Crawford | Bob Beers |

Most importantly, your ballot to vote is in the packet, along with a return envelope. The YELLOW ballot has the names of all 10 candidates in the order that was determined by a draw of numbers in an organizational meeting that was held in December. There are five (5) open Director positions. As Sun City is in the final year of a transition from two-year to three-year Board terms, the top three vote recipients will be elected to three-year terms with the next two highest vote recipients receiving one-year terms.

The ballot is to be returned either in person or by mail to the SCSCAI Administration Office at Mountain Shadows. You MUST use the YELLOW envelope provided in your packet to return your ballot. The envelope has prepaid postage and a bar code. Please do not write on the envelope – no return address. Do not cover the bar code as it is needed to validate your ballot. To ensure privacy, the envelope will be separated from the ballot before counting.

All ballots must be received no later than 5 p.m. on Tuesday, February 25, whether mailed or hand-carried. Ballots will be opened and tabulated on Wednesday, February 26, at the Association's Annual Meeting at Mountain Shadows with the call to order at 8 a.m.

SCSCAI Bylaws and CC&R Proposed Changes

In addition to voting for candidates for the Board of Directors, there are three other items that require your vote.

Ballots for these changes are blue and each change has a separate ballot. Please note that these ballots should be placed in the same yellow envelope that contains your election ballot. The deadline for votes being received is the same 5 p.m., February 25, time frame, and counting will take place on February 26.

Ham Radio Operators Ready When Emergency Strikes

Many ham radios have their own emergency power, batteries, generators or solar. Some even have windmills that give them the means to communicate around the world or across town.

You've seen it all on TV, the devastation in the wake of wildfires, earthquakes, dams that failed, hurricanes, blizzards, even terrorist attacks. What you don't see is the destruction wreaked on our infrastructure – power goes out over wide areas, cell phone towers topple, traditional phones have no dial tone, cable TV and the Internet go down, dams and bridges may even be destroyed.

With no electricity, computers won't work, so there is no email or Facebook. None of the phones will work, either. Roads are blocked, gas pumps don't work and you can't drive to safety.

How do you get out? How do you get word out?

That's where amateur radio, also known as ham radio, comes into play. Hams have networks set up citywide, statewide and nationwide that operate on emergency power so you can let someone know you need help, or so you can let worried relatives in Boston know you're safe here in Sun City.

Amateur radio operators are ordinary friends and neighbors who enjoy chatting on their shortwave radios to other hams in other states and even other countries. They can talk to astronauts on the International Space Station and even bounce their signals off the moon.

But there's also a very serious side to amateur radio. Hams get the word out when traditional communications systems are down. Many hams have their own emergency power, batteries, generators, solar, some even have windmills giving them the means to communicate around the world or across town. Ham radio has saved thousands of lives over the years.

Sun City Summerlin has its own amateur radio organization that is part of the Sun City Neighborhood Preparedness Team. While members enjoy "rag chewing" (chatting) with other hams much of their focus is on emergency preparedness and what they can do to help when called upon. They're constantly upgrading their skills to learn what they can do when disaster strikes, and they devote much of their time and energy to assisting other volunteer organizations and government agencies in keeping information flowing.

Hams conduct practice drills throughout the year. And while the drills are quite serious most have an element of fun attached. One of the most popular is the annual field day in which local amateurs haul their transmitters, antennas and generators up Mount Charleston where they compete with other hams around the world to make as many contacts as they can in a day or over a weekend. This helps them sharpen their operating skills under less than ideal situations.

Hams also have been known to set up demonstrations in public parking lots or other spaces to demonstrate their ability to communicate across the globe or across the street.

Sun City Hams has 35 members and welcomes new members all the time. Even if you know nothing about radio or electronics, you can get up and running with the help of Sun City's Hams and the many resources that are available.

If this sounds like something you'd like to get involved with, contact Sun City Hams President Paul Brandt at kc5cj.paul@gmail.com, or call him at 725-600-3771.

JIM AND PEARL RUPERT: LOVE TO LAST FOR A LIFETIME

It almost reads like a 1940s wartime romance movie script. Jim Rupert and Pearl Smith met in the summer of 1937 at the county fair. Although that was the beginning of what was to be a 70-year romance, the dating was casual at first. Jim was a high school senior; Pearl just 16. Both had plans for the future, and although marriage was part of those plans there was nothing immediate being planned. Jim had a job and had joined the National Guard in 1936 at age 18. Pearl looked forward to a career as a hair stylist.

In many ways, Pearl's life was typical of her generation of rural Americans. In one very important way, however, she was unique. Pearl Smith was born on a farm in Smethport, Pa., at the beginning of the Roaring Twenties, the first of eight children. She attended school in a one-room schoolhouse, not that unusual for farm country children at that time. If you asked her to describe her childhood she would say it was a horse and buggy time. She would go on to graduate high school and become a hair stylist. She was days shy of turning 20 when Pearl Harbor was attacked and everything changed.

Jim was born in Rew, Pa., one of four sons – two of whom had served during the First World War. He was already a Master Sergeant in the Army National Guard's 28th Division when his unit was activated in February 1941. By the summer of 1942 he was enrolled in Officer Candidate School (OCS). Jim was to be an infantry officer. He was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., and had already received sealed orders sending him into harm's way.

Jim and Pearl had talked about getting married 'someday.' Among the things that Pearl Harbor changed was their wedding plans. Times were uncertain; live today – today! The Army arranged transportation for Pearl to Fort Benning and the couple were married in September 1942. Three days later Jim shipped out to where Pearl later learned was Sitka, Alaska, the site of the Battle of the Aleutian Islands. It would be two years before they were to see each other again.

Back in Pennsylvania, Pearl resumed her civilian life. In April 1943 she had to go to Pittsburgh. While in the train station, she spotted a Navy recruiting poster that caught her eye. The Navy was looking for women to become WAVES. Jim was serving, why shouldn't she? She found the nearest recruiting station and walked in ready to join the Navy. But there, staring her in the face, was a Marine Corps poster. The Marine Corps, the last of the services to open its ranks to women, publicly began recruiting in February 1943 with a goal of enlisting 19,000 women. Unlike the other services, these women were not going to be assigned to an affiliated branch like the Army's WACs or the Navy's WAVES; they were Marines. The goal being to release men from support roles to make them available for combat duty. And this is where Pearl's experience became unique.

"It sounds silly now, but you have to remember that I was a hair stylist and my best friend was a hat designer, so how the uniform hats looked on women with the hair styles of the day was important to me. And, to me, the Marine uniform hat won hands-down, so I volunteered for the Marines. They sent me to Camp Lejuene, North Carolina, for basic training. We were trained by regular Marine drill sergeants. There were no women Marine officers at that point. I was making history by being part of the very first woman Marine boot camp class." Pearl said proudly.

After completing boot camp, Pearl was assigned to Aviation Quartermaster School to prepare her for next assignment.

"My next duty station was Cherry Point, North Carolina, where I was to spend the rest of my service. When I reported in, I was assigned to learn the duties of a particular young man who worked in aviation supply. He immediately let me know, in no uncertain terms, that he was ticked! 'Because of you, I am going to be sent into combat. Hell, I'm married,' he shouted. 'So am I,' I shouted back."

In 1944, Jim rotated back to Fort Dix, New Jersey, prior to being sent to Europe as part of the 106th Infantry Division. Pearl requested leave and took the train to New Jersey to spend time with him before he shipped out to England in November 1944. The division would go on to the Ardennes on November 26 and was partially overrun in the initial German assault (Battle of the Bulge) on December 10. Jim's platoon was quickly surrounded and forced to surrender. They were being held in a Belgium farm house when American forces reclaimed the area and freed the POWs. In all, the Division lost 8,600 men in that battle. Jim was awarded the Bronze Star.

In the meantime, Pearl returned to her post stateside. However, she soon discovered that she was pregnant with their first child, a daughter. In accordance with the policy of the day, Sergeant Pearl Smith Rupert was honorably discharged on December 13, 1944, for the convenience of the Government..

"I went back to Pennsylvania and lived with two of my sisters who were still in school while I awaited the birth of my daughter and the return of my husband," Pearl said. "My daughter was born in July and was 4 months old when Jim came home. Unlike many of his compatriots, Jim wasn't anxious to leave the service. He wanted to make a career in the Army. That sounded good to me and we became a military family traveling to many parts of the world. I loved it!"

Jim retired as a Major in July 1962.

"In 1999, with Jim's health deteriorating, we thought of moving to Las Vegas to be near my daughter. I found this wonderful house on the golf course where Jim, by then wheelchair bound, could watch our neighbors on the course. It has been just wonderful living here," she said.

Jim passed away in 2007. Pearl turned 99 in November.

Tuesday, February 25, at 7 p.m., Desert Vista

Help Us Help You

Welcome new neighbors. The holidays are over and it's time to check the new resident packet you received. Look for the blue form entitled Emergency Contact. It's an important form that needs to be completed and delivered to Security Patrol base at the Desert Vista Community Center (look for the flagpole next to the Pickleball courts) or any one of the Information Centers located at one of the entrances to the community at Del Webb and Rampart boulevards; Lake Mead and Del Webb boulevards; and Sun City and Lake Mead boulevards. The information you put on the form can help prevent a burglary or save your life. If you have misplaced the form, extras are available at the Information Centers and at Security Patrol.

Neighbors, has your friend moved out of Sun City? The one who had the key to your home in case of an emergency? If so, you'll need to change their name on your Emergency Contact form.

Why bother? Because that form provides Security Patrol with the names and contact information of people who can help in case an emergency. For example: An accident puts you in the hospital. Perhaps you left your garage door open, or your front door was left unlocked by first-responders, or your mail and newspapers are piling up signaling that your home is unoccupied. There are people who monitor such activity and use the information to burglarize your home. Security Patrol volunteers who drive the community report these situations to their dispatcher. The dispatcher will then begin to contact your Emergency Contact person.

How else does Security Patrol help? Another example: Your neighbor notices that you haven't been collecting your mail and he/she hasn't seen you for a few days. He/she contacts Security Patrol worried that you, the resident, may be ill or away. A driver scheduled for that neighborhood will be instructed to check the outside of your house and contact the neighbor who inquired about you to let them know you are out of town or in the hospital. If no information is available from the neighbor/s, the dispatcher will access your Emergency Contact information and begin calling the people on the form to see if they have any information about you. If the neighbor is concerned about your health and safety, a Security Patrol Watch Commander will go to the residence to decide if a welfare check is necessary. In some situations, a Watch Commander may call 911 for first-responders.

It is very important that

Functional Fitness: A Prescription for Wellness

As seniors, whether we are still very active or struggling with mobility issues, we should all be concerned about maintaining our overall health and maintaining independence for as long as possible.

Once our health and/or mobility begin to decline, there are many solutions thrown at us, from pharmaceuticals and supplements to the latest diet and exercise fad. As you consider the solution that's best for you, I recommend that you consider incorporating functional training into your routine.

As we all know, physical fitness is a key factor in maintaining health and wellness. Among other things, exercise can keep your muscles strong, improve your circulation, support your immune system and improve your mood. Most people are either doing the same fitness routine they've always done or don't know what type of exercises they should be doing.

For example, swimming is an excellent form of exercise. But if that is all you are doing, you may be missing out on the benefits of balance and strength work, which you will need for loading the trunk of your car with groceries or picking up your grandchildren. If all you do is walk or run on the treadmill, you may be missing out on the balance and agility required by navigating real terrain like cracked sidewalks, hills and other obstacles. If all you do is lift weight in the gym, you might be missing out on some of the benefits of balance, agility and cardiovascular training.

A good answer is to add variety to your workout. A better answer is to exercise with a focus on including the four cornerstones of physical fitness – strength, cardio, balance and flexibility. Functional training can do this for you.

According to WebMD.com, functional training is focused on building a body capable of doing real-life activities in real-life positions, not just lifting a certain amount of weight in an idealized posture created by a gym machine. Functional training targets your muscles to work in coordination to simply accomplish daily tasks or prepare for a sports competition. This is accomplished by using muscles in the upper and lower body, sometimes including rotation with an emphasis on core stability.

Many gyms offer functional fitness classes and other boutique studios have designed their entire business around functional training. You can choose to join an existing program or put together your own. In the March Link, we will cover specific exercises and discuss what makes them functional. We'll also explore ways you can work functional fitness into your daily routine.

Pam Shields,
SCSCAI Health &
Fitness Director

As always, if you haven't exercised in a while or plan to start a new program it is recommended that you check with your doctor.

WHAT'S AHEAD IN FEBRUARY

In February, we will continue our focus on the head and neck, with seminars on hearing loss, brain health, spinal stenosis and thyroid issues.

As we move into 2020 with new goals and resolutions, consider checking out our "Life 102" workshop that's set for February 18 at Desert Vista. It is part of a series of monthly workshops designed to challenge you to look at your outlook on life and how you handle difficult situations and people. Who knows? You could end up with a less stressful, more joyful 2020!

Nutrition Tip- Healthy Foods for Healthy Eyes

What foods come to mind when you think about keeping your eyesight healthy and strong? I'm sure we all can remember a time in our childhood where we were told to "Eat your carrots!" Carrots cannot restore vision loss or make any structural changes to the eye, but they are definitely beneficial for overall vision health. Let's take a deeper look at the role that food plays in eye health.

According to "The Age-Related Eye Disease Study" (AREDS), updated in 2013, the report found that certain nutrients like zinc, copper, vitamin C, vitamin E, beta carotene, omega-3 fatty acids, zeaxanthin and lutein may reduce the risk of age-related decline in eye health by 25 percent.

Failing eyesight doesn't have to be an inevitable result of aging. A healthy lifestyle can significantly reduce the risk of eye health problems.

Here are the Top 10 foods for healthy eyes recommended by the American Optometric Association (AOA) and the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO):

Fish. Many fish are rich in sources of omega-3 fatty acids – tuna, salmon, trout, mackerel, sardines, anchovies, herring.

Nuts and legumes. Nuts contain a high level of vitamin E. Walnuts, Brazil nuts, cashews, peanuts and lentils.

Seeds. Seeds are high in omega-3s and vitamin E – hemp seeds.

Citrus fruits. Rich in vitamin C – lemons, oranges, grapefruits.

Leafy green vegetables. These contain lutein, zeaxanthin and vitamin C – spinach, kale and collards.

Carrots. Rich in both vitamin A and beta carotene.

Sweet potatoes. A good source of vitamin E.

Beef. Rich in zinc.

Eggs. A good source of vitamin C, E and zinc.

Water. Essential to life and preventing dehydration. Water may reduce the symptoms of dry eyes.

It's not surprising that eating a variety of fruits, vegetables and lean proteins will contribute to eye health, as well as overall health. If one is on a restrictive diet, has food allergies, or is taking medications, always talk to an eye health provider about the right foods to eat.

Start with the first step and take a look at the food you eat. Make it as colorful and bright as you are!

Physical Tip – How to Stretch Your Neck

Neck pain is one of the most common types of pain in the United States. Here are a few stretches to incorporate into your daily routine. Always talk to your doctor before starting any new routine.

Forward and Backward Tilt

Can be done seated or standing. Movement is slow and controlled. Start with your head squarely over your shoulders and your back straight. Lower your chin toward your chest and hold for 10-15 seconds. Relax and slowly lift your head back up.

Tilt your chin up, eyes toward the ceiling and slowly bring the base of your skull toward your back. Hold for 10-15 seconds then return the head back to neutral.

Repeat several times.

Side Tilt

Can be done seated or standing. Movement is slow and controlled. Gently tilt your head toward your right shoulder and try to touch it with your ear. Stop when you feel the stretch. Don't raise your shoulder. Hold for 10-15 seconds then slowly bring your head back to neutral. Repeat on the other side.

Repeat several times on either side.

Side Rotation

Can be done seated or standing. Keep your head squarely over your shoulders and your back straight. Slowly turn your head to the right until you feel a stretch in the side of your neck and shoulder. Hold for 10-15 seconds then slowly turn your head forward again. Repeat on the left side. Do up to 10 times on either side.

Shoulder Roll

Can be done seated or standing. Raise your shoulders straight up and move them in a circle going forward 6 times. Return to the start position and move them in a circle going backwards 6 times.

New Year, New Carts for Sun City Courses

The Palm Valley Golf Course took delivery of 80 golf carts on December 17. New carts arrived at Highland Falls and Eagle Crest golf courses in January.

The new carts are powered by lithium batteries, which increase the cart warranties by one year. Instead of the original four-year (purchase) rotation, we will now go to a five-year rotation. The golf carts will remain color-coded by course, with Palm Valley's carts sporting an eggplant shade. The other two course will showcase charcoal and platinum tones.

Volunteering Is a Great Way to Stay Connected

Longtime Common Area Properties volunteer Sherry Gunderson, who said she's been on the CAP Committee for over 10 years, said thank you and goodbye to her neighbors she has served alongside during the January 7 meeting at Desert Vista.

Sherry, whose last assignment on CAP was the responsibility for reporting on the inspections at Sun Shadows, has lived in Sun City for 26 years. She cited the reason for her departure as a result of her upcoming move out of the community.

"I thought I was going to live here forever," Sherry said, explaining that mobility issues for herself and her husband contributed to their decision.

In addition to her work with CAP, Sherry also served on the Chartered Clubs and Community Organizations (CCOC) Committee.

"I like to say that I'm nosey, and being on a committee is the best way to find out what's going on in Sun City," Sherry said. "You get to do a lot of good work and help keep things going, but you also learn so much about different projects and the reason why things are done. I have loved my time volunteering on the committees and even have tried to get others to participate."

CAP, as well as all of Sun City's committees, is always looking for volunteers. If you are interested in sitting on a committee, attend a monthly meeting to see what the group is about. You may also reach out to the BOD chairperson listed on Page 6 of every Link.

The Work Never Stops

SCSCAI directors offered updates on their departments' projects, from replacing the stretch of carpet outside the entrance to The Summit dining room due to wear to the Echo Mesa beautification project at Palm Valley Golf Course. The landscape effort at Palm Valley has entailed removing several large, unhealthy pine trees adjacent to the Miller's Tavern sign.

Health and Fitness Director Pam Shields reported that she is looking to replace the lobby furniture in the fitness centers, which is beginning to show wear and tear.

While the project is scheduled to be part of next year's budget, Pam explained that now is a good time to start the discussion on the furniture's function. She pointed out the difference in furniture between the fitness centers and social halls, making the distinction that fitness center chairs often have to consider water as residents exiting swimming pools and spas may sit on them. Pam also addressed a future plan to relocate the monitor's station at Sun Shadows.

As for Food & Beverage, SCSCAI Executive Director Mitzi Mills reported on the success of the Thanksgiving dinners at

The Summit and told the Committee, "We'll look at expanding the event to both restaurants this year."

A longtime project moving closer to completion that was reported on at January's meeting was the installation of a sun shade at the building that houses Security Patrol headquarters, Sunshine Services and Sun City Charities/Volunteers.

A picture of the proposed canvass and metal structure was presented to the Committee. The cost of the structure was listed at $21,433.62. Following some discussion, CAP members voted to recommend sending the sun shade to the Board of Directors for final approval.

For more information on the January CAP meeting, visit Suncitysummerlin.com to listen to the recording of the meeting and/or read the minutes.

DECK THE HOUSE WINNERS

Eleven homeowners accepted the challenge to drape their houses in dazzling displays in December during Sun City's Deck the House contest. Three homes stood out to a panel of judges, who spent two evenings evaluating the holiday decorations. The only requirement was lights! And lots of them.

Joan and Steve Soltz took first place in 2019, following up on their Top 3 placement in 2018 with their representation of winter.

"We're Jewish, so we don't do Nativity," said Joan. "We do winter."

From the looks of the amount of snowmen inflatables, strings of lights, ornaments and other festive touches Joan said she and her husband could open up a store with their decorations.

"The outside is beautiful, but you should see inside!" Joan said. "I do the inside by myself, but Steve and I work on the outside together. He starts putting up the lights and it takes a few weekends to get it all done.

"We've met so many neighbors this way, people who bring us gifts and bake us things to say thank you for the display. We see people drive by. It really promotes a sense of community, and we've already bought more stuff for next year!"

Sun City wishes to thank all those who participated in the second annual Deck the House contest. In planning the event, the idea was to bring neighbors together, and from what Joan said, it was mission accomplished!

First-place winners Joan and Steve Soltz.

She spent time in Nashville and on the road before deciding to relocate to Las Vegas – the Music City wasn't interested in her kind of rootsy, hard-driving country, and Vegas was much more receptive. Don't miss the Tammy Graham Band when they play the best of the '80s, '90s, country, pop and Top 40!

CLUB SPOTLIGHT

Art Club

What a Wonderful World

The headline provides a clue to the aptly titled exhibit of Sun City Art Club members Patty Stroupe and Donita Murphy, who have been selected for an exhibition at the Whitney Library, 5175 E. Tropicana Ave. The display of watercolor paintings celebrates God's amazing creations, said Donita Murphy. Works include a variety of subject matter from portraits and florals to still life and animals. Most of the artists' work is representational and created with transparent watercolor on paper.

The exhibit will be on display from Tuesday, February 4, to April 14. The Whitney Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

SP^{LIGHT}T Sun City Summerlin Charities/Volunteers — 702-254-5831

"This hallway is so dark — I just can't change those bulbs."

"What will I do? I have an MD appointment and I can't see well enough to drive myself."

Do these statements sound familiar? If you've ever had these concerns, help can be on the way! Sun City Summerlin Charities/Volunteers is just a phone call away... 702-254-5831.

Sun City Volunteers has been serving residents since the start of Sun City Summerlin. The benefit to residents is twofold as the group offers handyman services and transportation.

Have you heard of us? Here's what we offer:

Transportation:

Do you need a ride to the store? Or to a doctor's appointment? How about to the beauty shop?

Whether you are able to drive yourself, or get independently in and out of a vehicle, we are here to help.

Our drivers will pick you up and drop you off at your home after you run your errand or your appointment. Every driver has been screened and uses their own car. If you are able to donate, $10 per round trip is requested but, again, not required. All money collected goes to the organization.

The office of Sun City Summerlin Charities/Volunteers is located next door to Security Patrol headquarters at the back end of the Desert Vista parking lot.

Handyman Services:

Volunteers consist of friends and neighbors who live in Sun City and donate their time and skills to assist others. Examples of this include changing light bulbs, including outdoor street number bulbs; adjusting irrigation timers; fixing cabinet door hinges; and changing air filters.

If you need assistance, call the office weekdays between 8:30-11 a.m. If the machine picks up, leave a voicemail message. We'll respond by the next business day.

The process starts with a phone call and ends with an appointment being made with one of our loyal, screened and trustworthy volunteers.

In 2019, 540 house visits were made by our 17 handymen.

A donation of $10 is requested, but is not required. Sun City Charities/Volunteers is happy to help regardless of your ability to donate.

Last year, we provided more than 825 rides. Residents report using our services as many as four to five times a year.

If you need assistance, we encourage you to call. We currently have 22 drivers and more are always needed.

If you are interested in offering assistance as a handyman or driver, give us a call we'd love to explain how it works. If you could offer assistance even once a month, we would love to have you on board. We are a group of friendly people who respect your time — we do not ask for more than you prefer to give.

Our goal is to age gracefully in our beautiful surroundings. Every day, we strive to make life less difficult for others and encourage you to join us.

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Mitzi Mills
SCSCAI Executive Director

Dear Sun City Summerlin Homeowners,

On behalf of the Sun City Summerlin Community Association, Inc., staff I want to wish each of you a happy and healthy 2020.

As staff we have the honor and privilege of working at your home, and I want you to know I never forget that you are the owners of this beautiful community.

As I sit down with staff to set our goals for 2020, it is important that the first thing we do is establish what is important to our homeowners. I hope you will take a few minutes and send me an email to let me know what things you would like the staff to work on or the Board to consider in 2020.

While some things requested may need budget consideration, I am also very aware that often there are things we could or should be doing that would improve your community experience and do not require extra funding, but require extra attention or training. Your staff wants to meet the needs of the community whenever possible, and with your help I believe we can address every concern that is presented and working together to find solutions for most of them.

Please share with me your ideas, concerns, suggestions and even complaints. I will be creating a document that contains every response received (without your name, of course) and sharing it with each of you. Each month I will update what progress has been made on the items and answers to questions.

As homeowners you know what your expectations are, as staff whenever possible we want to meet those expectations, but we can only do that if we hear from you!
