There are three (3) open Board seats this election and each property has 3 votes, one for each open seat. Votes may be split in any manner you choose, 3 for one candidate, one for each of three candidates or in any combination so long as no more than 3 votes are cast. Even though there are five (5) circles after each candidate's name on the yellow ballot, you may cast a total of 3 votes only. Sincerely,
Lynn Kasner Morgan, Chair

As I begin to write this month's article, once again I am conflicted. I want to report that our activities will resume in total soon, but I know that that is not the case. I hope that as you are reading this article many of our residents have been vaccinated. I know that two shots are highly recommended and just hope that the process has not only begun but is in full swing. We as a community are "high risk" by definition and the administration has been and is trying to expedite, if possible, vaccinations for our residents. We as a community need to be patient as the vaccination process goes on. We as a community have been very patient for eleven months and I hope that a continued positive attitude will prevail and carry us all to the conclusion of this pandemic. We cannot relax and get careless as we all get closer to being vaccinated. We should be even more careful than we have been the last eleven months to help ensure that we all can have a positive conclusion to this ordeal.

On another subject, VOTE! There are five candidates running for the Sun City Board of Directors. I hope that you will exercise your right and vote. Whether it is a ballot issue or officer election, this is your best opportunity to give direction to your community and its elected leaders. Review each candidate carefully and then vote for whomever you think will be best for the community. As Board President, I will not suggest what to vote for, or who to vote for, but will strongly encourage you to vote. If you did not attend the "Meet the Candidates" Zoom meeting, or their individual Zoom meetings, and have questions. . . call them. Three of them will be your leaders for the next three years and you have the right to ask them questions. I know that they would be happy to interact one on one with any resident.

As a Board, we have been spending some money on replacing equipment that had been deferred because of our concerns on COVID-19 costs. We have also proceeded with some preventative maintenance items that were deferred as well. One of the reasons that our community is so well kept, is because of preventative maintenance. Catching a problem in its early stages and repairing, replacing, or rebuilding it has proved to provide for a lot of savings in the long run. Credit for this should go to the administration and previous Boards that recognized this need and have kept the community on this positive path of responsible spending. Although the new Board will begin the budgeting process in the first week of March, staff and the administration are already hard at work. The requests for monies to be used on projects that have been made by individuals, clubs, departments, or the administration are being reviewed and analyzed by staff now so that come March when the Board asks "why," answers will be made available. If, as a resident or a club, you have a request, you should make it known now so that it can be investigated.

Be Safe. Be Kind. Be Well.

Vote Now for Sun City Board of Directors/ Bylaw Changes

As you read this article, you should have received your packet in the mail to vote for your choice of candidates running to serve on the SCSCAI Board of Directors. If you have not received your large, white envelope with the red marking "SCSCAI Election Materials Enclosed, Time Sensitive", please contact the Administrative Office at Mountain Shadows, 9107 Del Webb Boulevard.

The envelope contains everything you need to know about the 5 candidates running for the Board. There are statements to acquaint you with their qualifications and experience as well as a disclosure statement required by Nevada State Law, which states that the candidate is a member in good standing with the Association and has no conflict of interest in serving on the Board. There is one envelope and ballot per household.

Candidates are:

Larry Cohn

Richard (Dick) Gluch

John Berthelsen

Leo Crawford

Gerry Sokolski

Each candidate had the opportunity to chat via Zoom with members of the community and recordings of those sessions are available at SunCitySummerlin.com, under the Administration tab, then Resource Center tab, then Meet the Candidates tab. In addition, the candidates answered questions at a virtual meeting hosted by Residents' Forum and that recorded session can also be found under the Resource Center tab of the Association's web site.

You are also being asked to vote on two changes to the Bylaws. Details about those changes are included in the information packet contained in the white envelope that was sent to the owner address on file.

Most importantly, in the packet you received via mail, you will find the ballots you need to vote. The yellow ballot is for voting for the Board and the blue ballots are for the two bylaws change votes. All ballots should be returned in the yellow envelope. There are three Board positions open, each property has three votes, one for each open seat. Votes may be split in any manner you choose, three for one candidate, one each for three candidates or in any combination, so long as no more than three votes are cast. The top three recipients are elected to three year terms. Note that you MUST use the yellow envelope to return your ballots and you should NOT write anything on that envelope – no return address. Do not cover the bar code as it is needed to validate your ballot. To ensure privacy, the envelope will be separated from the ballots before counting.

Ballots must be received no later than 5 p.m. on Tuesday, February 23, 2021 at the Mountain Shadows Community Center, 9107 Del Webb Boulevard. The YELLOW envelope may be mailed, or hand delivered and placed in the ballot box which is adjacent to the monitor station inside Mountain Shadows Community Center lobby. Do NOT put the ballot in the outside black box.

Ballots will be opened and tabulated on Wednesday, February 24, at the Association's Annual Meeting with the call to order at 8 a.m. The Secretary of the Board will announce the election results at the end of the Annual meeting. The opening and counting of the ballots and the meeting may be viewed via Zoom. The sign-in information for the meeting is as follows:

“As I  See It . . . ”
Love, Real Love

By Alan G. Spector /Link

Blind Love

Absolute, unconditional love for others can be compared to the kind of love a parent feels for a newborn. From that first embrace, the parent can't see any imperfection. The child is the epitome of all that is good and right. We often experience Blind Love during the dating process. At one point, when we "fall in love" with our spouse-to-be, we may be blind to any faults and notice only his or her good qualities. Any hint of negativity is immediately excused, attributed to other circumstances. In fact, often the characteristics that irritate spouses most about each other are those very qualities they initially found so alluring and attractive. So, for example, a wife who complains that her husband is "irresponsible" or "reckless" may have been attracted to those very same qualities. We love someone to such an extent that we even see their faults as qualities, which we initially viewed as "adventurous" or "fun-loving." Or, for example, a spouse's "stinginess" may have been interpreted during the dating stage as a positive sense of "responsibility." So, Blind Love means we love someone to such an extent that we do not

It's funny, but it seems that just when I am uncertain about what to write for my monthly LINK column, the "universe" appears to provide me with guidance. Valentine's Day is approaching, so I started wondering about the concept of "love." Actually, "love" is a four-letter word, but just as a flower needs water to grow, every person needs to be loved in order to feel nourished. Some find evidence in the Bible to say that the universe was created in order to experience love and even comment that the admonition, "To love another as you love yourself" is the entire Bible and the rest is commentary. I decided to try to find the deeper meaning of Valentine's Day . . . real love.

I did some research and found a discussion of an interesting dichotomy. Must we accept someone as they are to love them? If we do not accept another as they are, does it mean we don't really love them? Do we love only what we wish to make of them? On the other hand, to love someone also means that we care for them and desire the best for them. And since very, very few people are the very best that they can be, doesn't caring for someone mean not accepting him as he is, but rather believing in their potential to be better, and doing everything we can to reveal that potential?

So, what is love? One scholar writes that there are (at least) three kinds of love. He called them "Blind Love", "Strategic Love", and "Intrinsic Love".

Alan and Melanie Spector.

even see their faults. Funny, there are those that say that when a baby is born the parent is blind to any wrong, but as the child enters his or her teens the parent is blind to any good.

Strategic Love

Strategic Love means that we see the negative qualities that the individual has, but we focus instead on the positive in order to effect change. We realize that focusing on the negative will only make things worse, so instead, we make a concerted effort to look for and concentrate only on the positive, with the ultimate goal of bringing out the qualities we desire. So, Strategic Love means being able to see the good and the bad of the individual, but choosing to overlook the bad in order to accentuate and bring out all the good. You see their potential and you magnify it, with the hope that their potential will become who they are. Strategic Love can be very effective, empowering the individual to reach higher. But it is also a limited love and, in extreme situations, can backfire. If you think about it, in essence, you are really loving the person not for who he is but for whom you are hoping you can make them become. So, a spouse or child might not feel loved unconditionally but loved only if and when he is doing what you want him to do.

Intrinsic Love

Loving a person, no matter who they are or where they are at. It was not a means to a goal, but rather totally and completely unconditional. Paradoxically, we can still push the other to change, reach higher, strive to be more, and constantly improve. This love is so real because since we can see the infinite greatness of another and that is the very reason why we want the person to be even better. It is because they are as great as they are that we want to strive to help them be even greater. And this could be the healthiest and most empowering approach that we can foster towards others, as well as towards ourselves.

do not measure up, how in the world will we strive to reach higher and become more?

This is where I think the message of Intrinsic Love is key. Intrinsic Love is not a blind love where we do not see the faults or negativity within ourselves or others. We are very well aware of how we can and should improve. But it is also not a negative message of "you're not good enough as you are." It is not even "be more" or "try harder", it is not a love for the improved version of ourselves. Intrinsic Love is an unconditional love for who we are. But precisely because each of us has infinite powers and abilities that we can demand of ourselves to be even better. Not because we are lacking, but because of the infinite goodness that we are. So, when we wake up in the morning, we need to see a new view of ourselves. Yesterday was good, great even! But today can be even better.

So maybe this is the true meaning of Valentine's Day... real

The only person you should try to be better than...
is the person you
were yesterday.

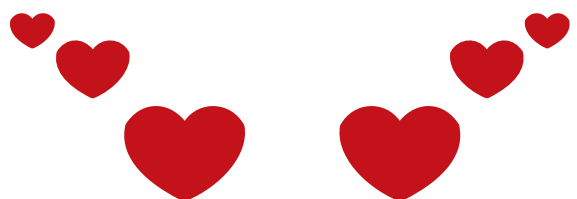

Sages say that we need to love another as we love ourselves, but we obviously can't "love someone as we love ourselves" if we don't feel any love towards ourselves. That means being kind to ourselves, not bombarding ourselves with critical self-talk. We tell ourselves that we're not good enough, not smart enough, not skinny enough, not ambitious enough, not efficient enough, and on and on. Advertisements too, are constantly assaulting us, telling us that if we purchase this product, vacation in this place, lose this much weight or achieve this kind of academic success, only then will we be "good enough." As a result, many of us have internalized voices that constantly criticize ourselves with their messages about how we just don't measure up. These critiquing voices can be so self-defeating, almost convincing us that we aren't really worthy of love. These voices also paralyze us, preventing us from even trying to reach higher.

On the other hand, if we don't see our faults or our challenges, if we do not acknowledge the areas in which we really love! We can learn that above all we must first love ourselves, then we can love others. We can love ourselves as we are and still strive to be better, do more. For me, this adds much meaning to Valentine's Day. I still love the red hearts, flowers, and candy, but with this deeper understanding, I have more love to give myself and others.

Remember, what I said about the Universe? As I was writing this column, surprisingly my favorite song came on the radio, sung by Bette Midler. Perhaps this gives us the true meaning of love. Love and accept ourselves, and honor ourselves and the flower we all have inside us. Happy Valentine's Day!

Meet Louis Darling

It is hard to believe that I have been with Sun City Summerlin for twenty-one and half years. Looking back, I have been involved in landscape design since I was 12 years old. A friend of mine, living in the same neighborhood, had a mom who had installed landscape that was totally different than any of the other houses. I became hooked.

I was born and raised in San Bernardino, California. I was raised with five brothers and two sisters. At 18, I joined the Navy and spent most of the time at Pearl Harbor. I have been to many countries in the east, including Iran and Kuwait. My favorite place was Philippines, but I was happy to return to Southern California.

After I left the Navy, I started in landscape construction. I wanted to be a landscape architect, but could not afford the schooling, besides, I never liked school. One of my brothers is a landscape architect. Through him and working landscape construction, I met his professor who taught me a lot about landscape design and my knowledge of landscape and plants came from on-the-job experience. I have done landscape construction for almost 30 years.

All the work I have done in this field, I have always overseen the crews. Before moving to Arizona, I worked for three landscape companies. I stayed with each about 10 years.

I lived outside of Dolan Springs, Arizona, with my dog

Brenda and two cats (Fluff and Cat) and have a few other animals on five acres. Everywhere that I lived, I added my touch, even on rental properties.

I started working here at Sun City Summerlin in 1998. I came here originally for the medical insurance. I started out as an irrigator. When the landscape supervisor position became available, I was offered the job. I turned it down three times. I did not want to be a boss anymore. All my jobs in the past always ended up with me being the boss. We know how that worked out. After being the supervisor, I was later offered the director's position.

The Landscape Department oversees the maintenance of all the common areas landscape that is not part of the golf course. My staff consists of one manager, one mechanic, one foreperson, one spray tech, three irrigators and nineteen groundkeepers budgeted.

The areas that are part of the landscape duties are ten parks, four community centers, two pro-shops and about hundred miles of streetscape. The street landscape consists of both sides of the street between the curb and wall and the median, most parts. On Rampart and part of Lake Mead Blvd. we maintain the areas along our walls.

You could say "I dig landscaping."

Louis Darling, Director of Landscaping

Sun City Love Stories

WHAT WE LOVE ABOUT SUN CITY SUMMERLIN

Sharon Bishop/Link

To quote from Alan Spector's article on page 8, "What is love?" Here in Sun City Summerlin there is love of the community, love of the people who live and work here, love of the clubs, love of the amenities. There are first loves, love of many years and new loves.

Thank you, to those of you who submitted stories, poems, and personal reflections for the Link. These truly reflect Sun City Love Stories.

Alan and Melanie Spector

"What we love about living in Sun City Summerlin?" to paraphrase an old political saying "IT IS THE PEOPLE SILLY!!" Honestly, we bought our house here because of the beauty and lifestyle of this community.

BUT it did not take long until we found out that what makes this the best place in the world to live; the PEOPLE. The people here are the friendliest, the most thoughtful, wonderfully caring, diverse and successful people from every imaginable background. We bought a house, but we found a home and the best friends in the world.

Molly Sher & Ken Caroccia

Molly Sher & Ken Caroccia

I have lived here in Sun City Summerlin since 1999, Ken has lived here since 2003, and there are several things we love here:

We are a true community; no matter where we go in Sun City, people will wave, say hello, and be a good neighbor. I think we all realize that we have a common bond – we have worked hard and are grateful to be in such a beautiful place in our retirement.

With all our clubs, one can fashion out a beautiful lifestyle; one can be as busy or as quiet as one cares to be. Our amenities allow as active a lifestyle as you care to have.

Our ARC (Architectural Review Committee): Everyone has different tastes and expressions of what they feel looks good. Thanks to our ARC, we know that the beautiful community we have been living in will continue to keep itself refreshed and updated. We are grateful people cannot work on their cars in their driveways or have "trash" on their front lawns. It gives us a sense of peace that, for the most part we can be assured that our property value will not go down due to the neighborhood.

Thanks to our Security Patrol, we feel safe and have walked our streets very early in the morning, alone, waving to the Patrol. If we had a private Security Patrol instead of the volunteer one, we would not have Security looking for lost dogs nor reporting dead rabbits, or give residents walking in the hot summer some water if they looked like they needed it, or even a ride home if it is warranted per the Watch Commander.

We also love that all our employees work like they are part of an extended family or part of the community. All our staff, be it maintenance, landscaping, golf, restaurant, or office personnel take their jobs seriously and go above and beyond many times. Even our Director, Mitzi Mills, is practically on board 24/7 looking out for us like the above-mentioned staff. If we were managed by a company, none of this would ever happen, because they only work 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There are many other things we could mention, but this captures what we feel are important highlights, and we are so very grateful for our staff, our fellow residents, and the opportunity to live right here in Sun City – the best retirement community in the United States!

1. The sun shines 320 + days per year, so no matter how you feel, when you open the garage door you will be smiling!

2. From Thanksgiving until Valentine's day is the worst weather of the year. That means you need about four or five sweatshirts to get from Thanksgiving to Valentine's Day and about fifty to one hundred T-shirts to get you from Valentine's Day back to Thanksgiving Day.

3. As you travel about the community in your golf cart, people always wave because they know that you are part of the community.

4. We now have ample golf cart parking spaces at all our facilities!

5. You can go anywhere within our 76 miles of public streets and all you need is a smile.

Diamond in the Ruff

He took a ruff diamond,
And he let it shine,
The day he asked me,
Will you be mine?

All our past experiences,
Make us who we are,
Find someone understanding,
A better person by far.

They ask, what's your secret?
What makes your love grow?
There's no magic answer,
When you have it, you'll know.

Just let him go free,
And in the end,
He'll come right back to you,
Again and again.

It's a different adventure,
Year after year,
Show how much you love him,
And he'll always be near.

He looked so frail,
As she helped him to his seat,
Music played in the restaurant,
Some friends they were to meet.

He kissed her hand gently,
And looked into her eyes,
The room was filled with people,
As tears fell down, she cried.

Before they get here,
I just want to say,
I've never loved you more,
Than I do today.

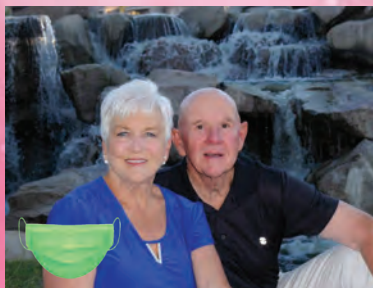

I never thought it possible,
That after all this time,
You would still want to hold,
Your hand in mine.

We've been so lucky,
After all these years,
To love even deeper,
Than life itself, dear.

Promise you'll stay with me,
Until the end,
And even after my life's over,
My love I'll still send.

For he took a ruff diamond,
And he let it shine,
The day he asked me,
Will you be mine?

They ask what's your secret?
What makes your love grow?
There's no magic answer,
When you have it you'll know.

RaNae and JB Watsabaugh

RaNae Watsabaugh

"RaNae." I turned my body to where the call of my name had come from. I was met by Mike Hanson. My heart thumped loudly in my chest. He made his way toward me as I stood there in awe. Perfect would have been the best way to describe him. He had summer blond hair, blue eyes, and an athlete's physique. A smile which made my heart flutter the moment I saw him.

It was only when he called my name the second time that I realized I was staring, and possibly daydreaming about him. My eyes met his. If this was a Doris Day movie, I'm a hundred percent sure romantic slow-motion music would have been playing in the background. I would have smiled and whipped my dyed blonde hair behind my shoulder, sighing.

"Yes?" I answered. "I was uh . . . wondering if you'd like to go out with me?" This was it! Dreams do come true! I heard wedding bells in the distance. RaNae Hanson. That sounded spectacular. I was cut off by my name being called again. "RaNae!" Suddenly Mike's voice, once soothing, was replaced with a high pitched familiar voice which I had learned to dislike. My head jolted up, I rubbed my eyes and came back to class. Standing right in front of me was Mrs. Dillon. "RaNae Gailey", she screeched, making me wince slightly as I woke up from my dream. "How many times do I have to tell you? Sleeping in my class leads to detention. I believe this is your second time this week. Go!" I resisted the urge to tell her it was my third, but she hadn't noticed me yesterday. To be quite truthful detention didn't faze me. I was frustrated I had to wake up from a delightful dream about Mike. In truth, I had a pathetic crush on a guy who didn't even care about my existence; I got nothing. Zero. Zilch. Nada. No excuse for why I had a crush on someone who would not be the slightest bit affected if I fell into a well and was trapped. Yes, it was that sad.

As I exited the door for detention, I caught the signature smirk on his face. There he was, with his Brylcreamed hair parted slightly to the right. His brown eyes scanned me, head to toe. Reggie Carpenter. While I was barely aware of him, he looked up and said, "I could use a little help with the math assignment." A smile crept across his face, but I could see the sweat on his upper lip. I cast him a "no way, Jose" look. It would be a funny story to tell Pat at lunch. Ha! Me, help Reggie? Unless I turn out to be a boy, and President Kennedy is my father, that's never happening.

At lunch, my friend Pat whispered, "hottie alert". She smiled and then directed her eyes to the right. My eyes followed and then stopped when they came to Reggie.

"He's disgusting. Stop checking him out."

"It's not my fault you hate one of the hottest guys in schools. I don't get why I have to suffer." Said Pat.

"Because you are my best friend?", I asked.

"He is a jerk, I said." "You would never guess what he had the nerve to ask me in class."

We sat down at our regular cafeteria table. I began to unfold my lunch from the brown paper bag, as well as the story about my encounter with him earlier today.

Who would have guessed he would be my prom date at the end of the semester? I am definitely not a boy, and I'm pretty sure President Kennedy was not my father.

Richard & Melody Becker

My wife and I enjoy all the clubs and activities here in Sun City Summerlin. We have great restaurants. We love the new people we have met here and continue to meet more everyday.

Sun City Love Stories

Jerry & Birdie Willick

Birdie, and I met at the wedding of our first cousins. I was 17 and living in St. Louis, and she was 13 and living in Springfield, IL. where the wedding took place. At the wedding dinner, I turned to her and said, "the chicken's cold." Who could ignore an opening line like that?

We moved to Vegas in 1970 and after selling that house on east Flamingo, we moved to Sun City in 2002.

What is not to love in Sun City? My son owned a home just across Cheyenne from Sun City and wanted to give it to us free, but we wanted to live in Sun City because of all the great benefits. The clubs, golf courses, and security.

I first heard of SC in 1982 when cutting the hair of the president of Del Webb and the architect Tommy Ryan. He showed me the plans of SC and how great it was going to be. I told him I'd never live there . . . never say never.

What do I love about Sun City – It is what we DON'T have . . . Someone playing basketball against their garage door at 11 p.m., the screeching of brakes when someone on a skateboard goes whizzing through an intersection. An abandoned Big Wheel or bike laying across the middle of the road, hordes of children playing "Marco-Polo" in the pool, or music next door playing so loud, the pictures on your wall vibrate! If we miss those things, we can go visit other friends or relatives, then come home to the peace and quiet of Sun City which adds to the retirement life we worked so hard to achieve.

COMMUNITY STANDARDS

More Frequently Asked Questions

Can I paint my home the same color as my next-door neighbor's? No. You can paint the same color scheme but not exactly like your neighbor's. No more than four colors, including gates, front doors, and garage doors, may be applied to the dwelling. When submitting an application for approved paint colors, please include paint chips and include the designated areas.

Does my fence have to be the same colors that are on my house? Approved wrought iron fence colors are black, white, tan, beige, one of the colors of the dwelling or existing wrought iron, if it was previously approved.

If I already have an awning, can I replace it? Yes, with approval. There is a brochure in the Community Standards office with approved colors. No fringe or different colored edging is permitted. You may also take your awning down, remove the metal frame, and patch/paint your home, if you choose.

I want to replace my windows; do I need to submit an application? Yes. Replacement windows must match the existing windows on the dwelling as closely as possible. Frame colors must be white or beige.

Are satellite dishes approved in sub-associations? Yes. You must apply on an ARC application and have it signed by the President of your sub-association.

Can I put a sidewalk from my driveway to my back yard? Yes, you can. Each single-family home may have sidewalks from the front of the dwelling to the rear yard. The sidewalks shall be no closer than one (1) foot from the side property line.

What kind of lighting is permitted in my landscape area? Clear garden/landscape lights, including regular and solar powered lights, are permitted in landscaped yard areas. Spotlights are acceptable providing they do not intrude onto any neighboring property or street. Decorative miniature clear lights may be permanently installed on trees only.

Remember an ARC application must be submitted to Community Standards for anything that changes the looks of your property (front, back or side area). Also, applications for sub-associations (attached homes) must be submitted to Community Standards, with your President's approval.

WORKING TO SERVE YOU

With a Smile, Great Food, and a Relaxing Atmosphere By Sharon Bishop/Link

The Food and Beverage staff led by Director, Anthony Marrone, and Food and Beverage Assistant Manager, Gage Stringer, have certainly risen to the challenge of constant change in COVID-19 protocols and restrictions to keep the restaurants open for the residents, as well as serving quality food at the same time.

In the beginning, it was takeout service and groceries that the residents could purchase. Then in May 2020, the restaurants were opened adhering to strict COVID-19 guidelines. Then, another shift in guidelines, set the capacity back to 25% with reservations, if the residents want to dine in. The Summit can have a group of 30 for a special event.

Anthony considers all his cooks, chefs and there are eleven in the kitchen. There are two dishwashers, and the waiter staff is covered by only eight individuals.

With menu planning, food procurement and the never-ending sanitizing, the Food and Beverage Department is on its toes. The reservation system that is in place, allows the staff to prepare and have a table ready. The restaurants are usually at full capacity during 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday to Sunday, but are open for breakfast through dinner; the Summit at 8 a.m. – 4 p.m., and Tavern at the Falls at 6 a.m. – 6 p.m.

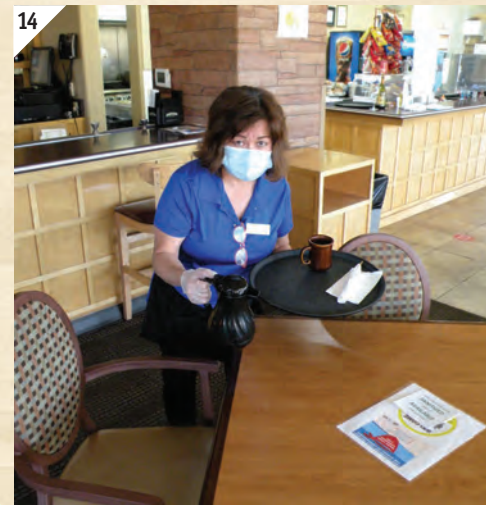

Whether it is takeout service (always available), grocery orders (still available), specials like Dinner-to-Go at Thanksgiving, Christmas and now Valentines, or a reserved table at the Summit or Tavern at the Falls, there is always a smile on their faces and fresh delicious food for you.

A big thank you to the Food and Beverage Department, they are truly the Best of Sun City Summerlin.

Love Your Heart and Pump it Up! American Heart Month

By Jessie Miles

February is the time of year where there is quite a lot of buzz around the heart. Whether it's Valentine's Day, American Heart Month, or the Go Red Campaign to bring awareness of heart disease in women, the human heart definitely takes center stage all month long. In terms of Health & Fitness, the heart is looked at in several different ways. From a health perspective, the cardiovascular system includes the heart, arteries, vessels, and capillaries and its primary function is to maintain blood flow to all parts of the body. From a fitness perspective, cardiovascular exercise uses the large muscles of your body in movement over a sustained period of time to increase your heart rate. The mindset around heart health is one of prevention rather than reaction. Preventive care is to detect health problems before symptoms develop, while diagnostic care is given to diagnose or treat symptoms you already have. Prevention is in our hands, takes a commitment, and is an opportunity to control our health. Similar to the heart's anatomy, which has 4 chambers, let's focus on four for February:

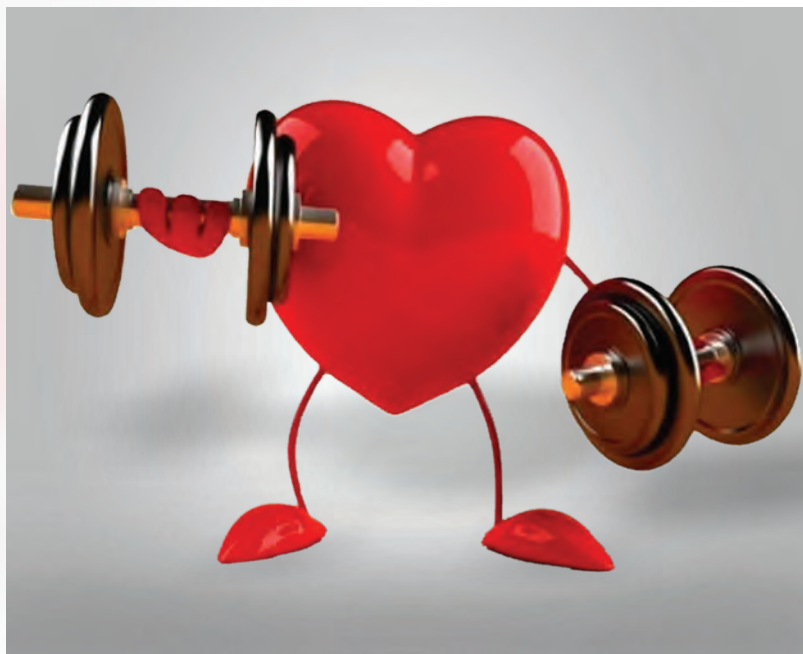

1. Education

This month, we will be offering a virtual doc talk with Dr. Glenn Barnes D.O. at UNLV Sports Medicine on February 24 at noon, that will discuss the heart anatomy, how it changes as we age and cardiovascular exercise for older adults. Another way to get educated is to know your key numbers and to monitor them when you are making lifestyle changes. We know that by improving our diet and exercise, our blood pressure, blood sugar, cholesterol, and BMI (body mass index) should be, and our key numbers can shift into a healthier range.

Pam Shields,
SCSCAI Health &
Fitness Director

Jessie Miles
SCSCAI Fitness
Manager

2. Function

One of the fundamentals of fitness is cardiovascular exercise along with strength, flexibility, and balance which we will discuss throughout the year. Moving your body to improve heart health comes in all shapes and sizes. Find activities that you enjoy that will increase your heart rate for a certain period of time. Big blocks of time are not required for cardiovascular exercise and there is no special equipment needed.

3. Quality

Quality vs. quantity. Movement and exercise quality have everything to do with how you improve and feel. For example, if I'm on auto pilot and I get on the treadmill at the same time, same resistance, and same pace, my heart will not be challenged. We offer our monthly Life 102: Let's Get Positive workshop that discusses a mindset of positivity and quality thinking. We can also apply that quality to our movement patterns when exercising.

4. Fuel

Cooking that's good for your heart. According to the American Heart Association, eating fruits and vegetables don't cancel out other unhealthy habits, but are a key part to a heart-healthy diet. We will be offering a second virtual cooking demo on Wednesday, February 17 at 4 p.m., with Mary Fairhurst. This time, we will be offering three soup recipes: beginning, intermediate, and advanced. Please RSVP to receive a Zoom invite at fitness@suncitylv.com.

This month is filled with heart-centered activities and we hope you will participate. Do what you love and love what you do. In March, the Health & Fitness Department will continue with more cardiovascular topics and cover National Nutritional Month by focusing on what we eat and how it makes us feel. Let's continue with the hope in 2021 and embrace our loving community.

Virtual Doc Talk with Dr. Glenn Barnes, DO, UNLV Sports Medicine
Wednesday, February 24 at noon • RSVP to receive Zoom invite at fitness@suncitylv.com

The original inspiration for Dr. Barnes to become a physician was a result of his older brother requiring knee surgery. On the day of the surgery, the anesthesiologist was kind enough to show him some of the equipment and medication. Since that day he knew what he wanted to do with his life. Dr. Barnes then became the first person in several generations to obtain a bachelor's degree and is the first physician amongst his family. He worked full time on the Las Vegas Strip as a food runner while attending UNLV to pay for his education himself. One of his first real encounters with medicine was at a free clinic called Volunteers in Medicine of Southern Nevada (VMSN) where he learned the true depth of what a good Family Medicine physician could do.

SECURITY PATROL

702-254-2303

"Good Morning, This is Sun City Security. May I Help You?"

Your phone is the quickest link to Sun City Security Patrol. The patrol members on duty may be able to help you with your questions, concerns, or situations. We can help direct you to the proper solution or person you might need to contact. Sun City Security Patrol is made up of your neighbors who have had hours of "on-the-job" training to assist the residents of Sun City.

We Help With These Issues And More!

- ◆ Patrol the streets of Sun City.
- ◆ Advise residents about open garage doors or emergency house lights.
- ◆ Check the exterior of homes during vacations.
- ◆ Report water problems.
- ◆ Welcome visitors and answer questions at Sun City entrances.

Remember . . . 911 is your go-to phone connection for true emergencies. If you have a life-or-death circumstance or a possible illegal act, please call the 911 operator immediately. For non-emergencies dial 311.

Always There

Security Patrol tries to have the volunteers manning the office and patrolling the streets of Sun City 24/7, 365 days a year. That means many of your neighbors are out there making your life easier every minute of every day. The drivers are constantly checking the community property owned by our association, both during the day and overnight. Sun City staff and crews support the patrol and also help keep the facilities safe for us to use.

Your Chance To Help

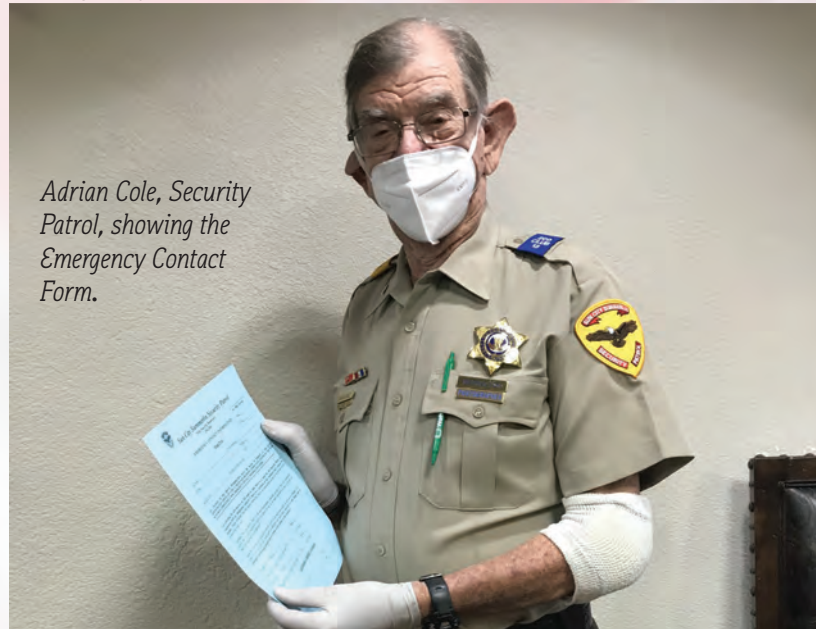

If you would like to be a part of this important group, Security Patrol invites you to explore the possibilities. There are slots for drivers, dispatchers, and information center hospitality hosts. There are patrol members who would love to show you around, give you any information you might need and demonstrate some of the aspects of the positions. Most of all, you would meet and make friends with volunteers who give of themselves to help their neighbors in Sun City.

Bill Schoening,
Chief of Security

Emergency Contact Form

Adrian Cole, Security Patrol, showing the Emergency Contact Form.

It is also extremely important to have your Sun City emergency contact list up to date. These forms are available at Security Patrol Headquarters at the far end of Desert Vista Community Center parking lot.

This is the only way the patrol can connect with you or your selected contacts if an issue should arise at your home. Janet Bailey, a member of our hard-working Board, shared these thoughts, "the blue emergency contact sheet is the lifeline between Security Patrol and the Sun City residents. If kept updated, it cuts down time for completion of any issues that arise."

The patrol members may not enter any home or close any garage doors of a privately owned property. It is so important for them to know who to call!

A few of the other items available to our neighbors are whistles (carry while walking to scare off any threatening creatures), "no soliciting" signs for your home and other additional information is available.

VALENTINE'S DAY THE MOST ROMANTIC DAY OF THE YEAR

When I think of the month of February, one thought always comes to mind- Valentine's Day. I am sure many of you have some memories over the years of early school days trading those kids' valentines with classmates (especially the ones one might be particularly fond of!). By the same token, it could also be a very disappointing day if one received no cards at all. Why have so many of us gotten wrapped up in the ebb and flow of romance and love on this day? Who started this holiday? And why is Cupid (the chubby little cherub with a bow and arrow) one of the symbols of the day? Back in time, we will go to discover the history of Valentine's Day, also known as St. Valentine's Day.

The origin of Valentine's Day can be traced back to the Romans, who celebrated the festival of Lupercalia. This festival celebrated the coming of Spring and incorporated fertility rites as well as pairing off men and women via a lottery. Young women of a certain age would cast their names into a pot and young men would pick out a name. It is believed that these random pairs might stay together for a year and then decide whether they wished to marry; many of them did. One of the rites that began the festival was to have the Roman priests meet at a sacred cave and sacrifice a goat for fertility and a dog for purification. They then took to the streets with the strips of both hides dipped in blood, gently slapping young men and women with the strips, believing that this ritual made them all more fertile.

At the end of the 5th century, Pope Gelassius felt the festival was un-Christian and replaced the festival with St. Valentine's Day. Exactly who the holiday is named after remains a mystery; there are at least three martyred saints named Valentine and their stories are so interwoven, that it is possible two of the saints mentioned were the story of one man. One recorded version is of a priest who was martyred in 270 CE and was declared a saint; another speaks of St. Valentine of Terni, a bishop beheaded for marrying young lovers in secret. Apparently, the emperor felt that single men were better soldiers than those who were married and forbade young single men to marry. This was most likely the beginning of the more romantic terms that Valentine's Day is known for.

In 1375 English poet and author, Geoffrey Chaucer wrote about the romantic day in his poem "Parliament of Fowles," and was the first person to officially record Valentine's Day as a romantic celebration and made the day popular. Written valentines did not begin to become popular until after 1400. It is believed that the oldest written valentine in English was from Margery Brews of Norfolk, England, who called her fiancé John Paston, "my right well-beloved valentine." Her expression of love is now housed in the British Library.

And what of Cupid? How did he become a symbol of Valentine's Day? Cupid was considered a Roman god whose roots were in Greek mythology. He was Eros, the Greek god of love. Eros played with the emotions of mortals and gods alike, using his golden arrows for love and leaden ones to sow aversion. Only much later did he become the naked cherub using his arrows on lovers. Two other symbols are often used: the heart and birds. The heart represents the seat of the emotions. The birds represent the mating season as they are believed to begin the season in mid-February.

Common gifts that are still used today are flowers (usually red roses symbolizing beauty and true love) and candy.

BY MOLLY
SHER/LINK

Cadbury's heart-shaped boxes of chocolates appeared in the 1860s, Hershey's Kisses in 1907 and Hallmark Valentine's Day cards in 1913.

The real push to make Valentine's Day popular began in the Victorian era. Victorians not only wanted to express their undying love to their lovers, but also made "vinegar valentines" very popular. For example, an unwanted suitor would receive a card that contained an insulting poem or illustration. The recipient of the card would not only have to guess who hated him/her, but they would have to pay for postage and delivery. One vinegar valentine from 1909 read,

"To My Valentine

Tis a lemon that I hand you and bid you now 'skidoo,' Because I love another – there is no chance for you."

Vinegar valentines cards gained such popularity that it was estimated that of the millions of cards sent, approximately half were of the vinegar variety. Readymade cards allowed people to express their emotions in a time when expressing one's feelings directly was discouraged.

It is believed that Americans began exchanging hand-made valentines in the early 1700s. In the 1840s a woman known as the "Mother of the Valentine," Ester A. Howland, began selling the first mass-produced valentines card in America. She made elaborate creations with real lace, ribbons and colorful pictures known as "scrap." Today, the Greeting Card Association estimates that 145 million Valentine's Day cards are sent every year, making it the second-largest card selling holiday outside of Christmas. And ladies? Women purchase approximately 85% of all Valentine cards. Nowadays, Valentine's Day is more of a time to show love and appreciation for family, friends, significant others, or anyone else you might love. Valentine's Day is celebrated in the US, United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, Argentina, France, Mexico, and South Korea. In the Philippines, Valentine's day is the most common wedding anniversary date.

One little bit of trivia: many of you may be familiar with those little heart-shaped candies that had messages on them? "Kiss me," or "Be mine." If you remember those, they were called Sweethearts and were made by the New England Confectionery Company, famous for NECCO Wafers. In 2018 the company declared bankruptcy and was sold, and the Sweethearts brand were eventually discontinued. The new company who bought the brand hoped to have Sweethearts back on the market by 2019; I didn't see them last year, but maybe I will this year! My understanding is that the sayings will have updated expressions such as "Believe!" and will have a different taste. Well... I guess nothing stays the same.

Lastly, Frank Morgan, the actor who played the wizard in the classic "Wizard of Oz" told the tin man who was looking for a heart, "A heart is not judged by how much you love, but by how much you are loved by others." So true! Happy Valentine's Day everyone!

Walk-In Tub

By Stu Gershon/Link

I Love
A Good
Bath

As we get older, many of us cannot do the same things we did a few years ago. A case in point is getting into a bathtub. This sounds simple enough. But as we get older, our body is not as flexible, and maybe we cannot lift our leg high enough to get into that tub. Just before the pandemic hit, I invested in a walk-in tub. That meant there is a waterproof door on the side of the tub that allows you to enter at almost floor level.

There are four reasons you might consider a walk-in tub:

- (a) This allows a lower threshold to enter the tub.
- (b) As an alternative to showering, it can reduce the risk of falls.
- (c) Having a seat, rather than sitting on the floor of the tub makes it easier to get in and out.
- (d) Finally, you can remain more independent for a longer time.

You'll have to refer to the photos to understand some of the principals. But first, I have to mention, that when I moved here, I realized the air conditioning was on most of the year. This would mean while showering or bathing, I would be entering an air conditioned space and I would be soaking wet. Considering this, I had ceiling heaters installed in all my bathrooms. This would help keep the bathroom warm while I was wet. That is a very important part of this plan since you would be cold and wet when coming out of the shower or tub.

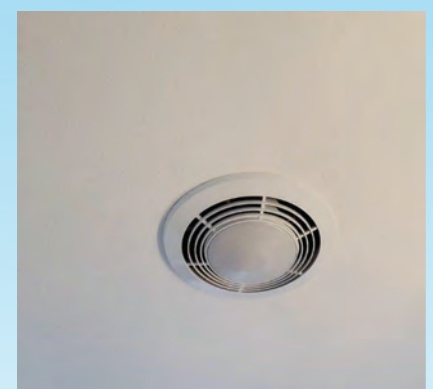

So you get into the tub (it's empty and you have to secure the door) and then sit there while the tub fills. I built a magazine rack, and I read while I'm waiting for the tub to fill.

After the tub fills, you can put on the jets (bubbles like a hot tub) and you could wash, or even shower (some units come with a "bonus" shower) or just sit back and relax. When you are finished, (on my unit) you can open up the double drain and it takes 75 seconds for the tub to empty. While the tub is emptying, you can use the shower wand to wash off the soap ring around the tub. You walk out of the tub, put on a towel or robe and feel quite relaxed.

I'm not going to recommend any particular model or company, and I'm not selling anything, but if you have further questions, you can email me at stugershon@gmail.com.

Ah, the Pressure of Valentine's Day . . .

By Patti Tripp/Link

Remember growing up when you wrote out little valentine cards to everyone in the class and you had to get enough for everyone, so no one would have hurt feelings? Remember when you had colored penny candy with cute, lovable sayings on them to hand out to your friends? Welcome to being grown up – now, the pressure's on.

Not sure why we use the symbol of an arrow going through a heart when, in fact, it can be fatal. Eating a box of chocolates is something your doctor would frown upon for both your arteries, your waistline, not to mention your A1C level. Looking for the right card can say too much or too little depending on who you're giving it to. A dozen roses can now run the same as what your first car payment used to be. Not sure if the restaurants will have you eat inside, suffer outside in the cold, or be left with take-out from McDonald's.

So, as we get older, having made sure everyone in the class got a valentine, we fondly look back on it as a simpler time. The pressure of doing the right thing, for the right person with the right amount of affection is more complicated by making sure you even remember it's February 14! There are other days we can choose to celebrate in February - National Pizza Day on the 9th, National Love Your Pet Day on the 13th or National Margarita Day on the 22nd . But we make a big deal out of the 14th.

As for me, I was literally proposed to once on Valentine's Day which, by the way, made my saying "no" more than a little awkward. The pressure of getting it right on Valentine's Day can prove overwhelming for some, while others may let it pass unnoticed. Should it take a designated day for you to tell someone you love them, or give them a card, or give a single rose to someone you love "just because"? It doesn't have to be a spouse or significant other. Just someone you love because of who they are in your life, or perhaps a kind gesture towards a stranger. It isn't always a particular day or the size of the gift that can make someone's day.

Some of us have someone special to celebrate Valentine's Day with, others may not. Be that as it may, it's designed to be a day to celebrate love but then, shouldn't we find a way to do that every day with the people in our lives? Making sure the people we love know it should not be assigned to a single day in February. Perhaps we could remove the pressure of making it the perfect Valentine's Day and find the time to show our love for others throughout the year. When taking the hand of someone you love, try a little extra squeeze, or when giving someone you love a hug, hold on just a few seconds longer, or simply giving a stranger a smile doesn't cost a thing – no pressure.

So, as Valentine's Day comes and goes (and it will), February 14th isn't the only day you can show someone you love them. It shouldn't take an arrow through the heart on a card, or candy, or flowers to remind them. You'll probably give them or receive them, but it's what in the heart that truly matters. Spend as much or as little as you want but know that telling someone you love them doesn't have a price on it. Considering the year 2020 was, it might be the best gift yet!

Just a Word. Our gratitude to all those who have stepped forward and have offered to serve on the S.C.S.C.A.I. Board of Directors. Hats off to all current Board Members for their many hours of service to our wonderful community, and to all those who are running for the Board and are willing to "walk the walk" not just "talk the talk". We might not agree with some Board actions or some Board members, sometimes... but these folks dedicate a lot of time and effort to benefit all of the residents of Sun City and work to make our community the best place to live. Thanks folks!

Shout Out! Thank you to Sun City resident, Lori Karbel who took the time to provide feedback about the outstanding service she received from Julie Zerbel from Community Standards. "I want to give a shout out to Julie Zerbel of Community Standards staff. We have done a few updates to our house this year and Julie has been extremely responsive and helpful with all of the questions I asked to be sure we were compliant with Sun City Summerlin standards. She was very easy to work with and a big asset in helping us navigate smoothly through what might have been a stressful process." Thank you for all that you do Julie!

Special Spotlight - Jerry Willick

Everyone said a Men's Club here in SCS would never work. Jerry took me to lunch and said, "It will never work, but here is my check for the first year's dues, and I will help in any way I can!" Since then, I have come to know that Jerry never just talks... HE DOES! Whether it is getting up early to make the coffee for others or opening his home for meetings or reaching out to help others in need, Jerry and his lovely and hardworking wife, Birdie are there. Always and in all ways. Jerry has had an amazing career as a "barber to the stars" and is very well known in Las Vegas circles. Jerry is one of the nicest guys you could ever meet and an inspiration and role model for others. The Willick's are long timers at Sun City Summerlin and have been involved in many groups and activities. While their accomplishments are legendary, they should be most noted for their kindness, thoughtfulness, positive attitude, and enthusiastic helpfulness. If you know them, you are proud to have them as friends. If you do not know them, look them up and give yourself the gift of friendship with these very special people. All the best to Jerry and Birdie for many more wonderful years.

That's it for this month! don't forget to send in your Gratitude Corner stories to scsspirit@gmail.com and let's make those special people feel really special!

Sun City Summerlin's Piano Man

By Tammy Collins/Link

Son of a WWII heroine, saxophonist, pianist, proud Vietnam veteran, film and TV producer, vocalist, radio show host, cruise ship performer, songwriter, and "Lolo" (Filipino word for grandfather) are all Sun City Summerlin resident, Rod Ouano.

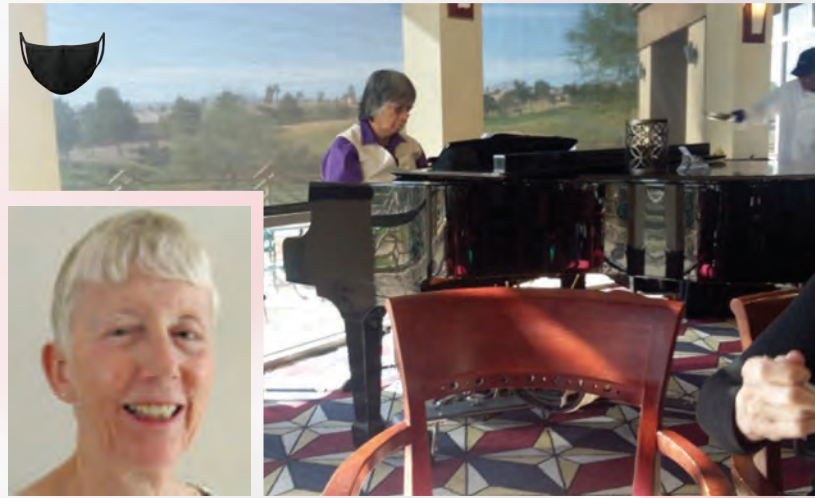

Many in Sun City know Rod as the pianist who provided background piano for nearly three years at our Summit Sunday Brunches. But, like many residents, his life has been one of multiple callings and experiences. As interesting and amazing as Rod's life is, what he cherishes most is being "Lolo" to his grandsons Jayce and Jax.

Born in the Philippines, Rod emigrated with his family to the United States when he was seven years old. His family settled in San Diego. Rod grew up in an ethnically mixed neighborhood where he learned to appreciate the diversity that surrounded him. At the age of ten, his mother asked Rod if he would be interested in playing the piano. She enrolled him in a piano class with six other students. Each week students would take turns playing the same selection before classmates and the teacher. During the early lessons, Rod played after most of his classmates and did very well. But when it was his turn to play first, Rod failed miserably. His teacher asked if he was reading the notes or just playing what he had previously heard. He admitted to the latter. That ended the piano lessons as he did not read music.

A few years later, Rod decided to give the saxophone a try. He had success with the instrument and loved being in bands throughout junior high and high school. One day during his junior year in high school, a fellow band member sat at the piano and played "The Fascination Waltz." Rod watched and listened, and in Rod's words he was "totally mesmerized". He went home, sat down at the spinet and flawlessly played "The Fascination Waltz." Rod recalled, "My mother said, "I didn't know you could play the piano." Rod replied, "neither did I."

After earning a degree in architecture, from San Diego Mesa College, Rod served in Vietnam with the US Army Corps of Engineers. Once discharged, he studied Radio and TV Broadcasting at San Diego State College. This led to several jobs in that industry—TV editor and producer and radio DJ.

Moving to Seattle, Rod worked at Boeing for ten years in the Manufacturing Research and Development Department. During this time, he played saxophone and piano with several musical combos in the area and wrote both music and lyrics to two commercially successful Christmas songs—"Sounds of Christmas," and "Hello Christmas Day." These tunes aired on national radio.

Rod Ouano, Sun City Summerlin Piano Man

Upon leaving Boeing, Rod and his late wife Cynthia pursued music full-time, performing in seven western states year-round. Their show encouraged audience participation, and was called "Remember Those Days"—featuring music from 1850's to the 1950's.

When Cynthia was stricken with cancer, they stopped performing and moved to Sonora, California. Here, Rod returned to radio and became "Rod Phoenix", hosting the afternoon drive time show at STAR-92, KZSQ. However, the radio station did not provide medical insurance coverage when Cynthia needed such, so Rod gave up the radio job and became an assistant manager at a retirement complex. When Cynthia passed away, Rod joined a grief support group. After attending the group for about a year, he met Gloria, a newcomer who was mourning the loss of her husband. Slowly Rod and Gloria got to know each other, and they found they had many interests in common—among them, playing the piano and classic movies. They were married in 2005 on the shore of the Santa Catalina Island, as the incoming tide caused very rushed "I do's" and "you may kiss the bride."

Rod credits Gloria for his return to music. She encouraged him, once again, to play, compose, and perform. At a recent performance, Gloria was even a "roadie" helping Rod tote equipment to the concert site. Rod and Gloria moved to Sun City Summerlin five years ago, and like many of us here, consider the move "one of the best decisions we ever made." Many may recognize Gloria as the "classic movie lady." Prior to the COVID-19 crisis, Gloria and Rod researched classic movies that were shown monthly at our Starbright Theatre. At each showing, Gloria provided background information, while Rod prepared a detailed and informative poster of that day's film.

May 2021 bring Rod our "Sun City piano man" back to The Summit, and Gloria our "classic movie lady" to the Starbright Theatre.

CLUB SPOTLIGHT COMPUTER CLUB

Members Helping Members

Jeff Wilkerson
President

The Computer Club will celebrate its 30th anniversary this year, and much has changed since its inception. In March 1991, Blanche Kroll organized 40 Sun City Residents and wrote the club's constitution. S.C.S.C.A.I. approved and the Club was chartered on April 12, 1991.

A computer powered by an Intel 8088 processor was donated and the Club's first meeting was held in May 1991, the official anniversary date. The Club's first newsletter was published in September 1991 and by the end of that year, the Club had 77 members. The Club's newsletter was renamed "The Gigabyte Gazette" in 1996. Two special interest groups named, "Macintosh" and "Computer-aided investing" were created in 1992. The "Kaffee Klatch" started in November 1992 and the first computer meeting room opened at Mountain Shadows with a Gateway 486 and a Macintosh IICi, in February 1993.

Microsoft replaced the complicated DOS operating system with a "user-friendly" Windows 95. America Online (AOL) and the internet exploded, and by 1996 the Club's membership grew to over 500 members. Outgrowing its original Mountain Shadows location in January 1995, a 970 square foot room in Desert Vista became the new home for the Club. Membership rapidly increased and the Desert Vista room soon became unsuitable. In September 1997, the Club moved once again to its present location at the Pinnacle which contains two classrooms. By May 2001, its 10th anniversary, the Club had over 1,300 members.

Fast forward to 2021, computer technology has rapidly changed but the Club's original mission of "members helping members" has not. The Gigabyte Gazette is still written by Club members today and provides monthly updates, reviews, activities, discusses technical topics and gives notice of classes and spotlights Special Interest Groups (SIG).

"Kaffee Klatch" meetings continue but since the COVID-19 pandemic hit, Club members have been brewing their own cup of coffee, as the weekly meetings are currently being held via Zoom. "Kaffee Klatch" meetings encourage questions and discussions that are designed to help everyone, from the novice to the advanced computer user by sharing useful tips that your neighbors have learned when resolving their issues.

Specialized Interest Groups (SIG) review numerous topics. "Cutting the cord" teaches how to end paying for cable and satellite and obtain "free" TV using various antenna options, internet streaming services and software to stream music, photos, and videos directly from your computer to your smart device or HDTV. Other classes teach how to use Windows 10, instructions on using your Apple computer or iPhone, and the internet investing sessions continue along with numerous other special interest topics.

"Let's Talk Genealogy" teaches you how to search for your family history using free services on the internet. This is a fantastic class and if you want to learn how to make a family tree and discover things about your grandparents that you can pass on to your children and grandchildren, then why not take it?

Computer use has increased. Computers not only give us entertainment, but they are also essential to provide communication, internet banking, shopping and deliver information. But when your computer fails, repairs can be expensive. The computer Club to the rescue! Another service is the weekly computer "Repair SIG". I was ready to throw out an old laptop after being quoted over $150.00 to fix it by a professional repair service. Knowing I had nothing to lose I brought it to the repair lab, and it was fixed within an hour!

It costs only $10.00 to join the Computer Club and you have access to all of the above services, and more!

For additional about the Computer Club, check out their website at www.scsccl.com/ or contact President Jeff Wilkinson at 702-527-4056 or via email at pres.scsccl@gmail.com or Vice President Tom Burt at tomburt89134@cox.net.

QUESTION & ANSWER

The Difference Between a Sub-association and the Master Association

I am a contributing writer to the LINK because of my background. I have spent 14 years as a Board of Directors member, am still on the ARC (Architectural Review Committee) for the last 17 years and Security Patrol for 17 years as well. Our Director, Mitzi Mills, thought these qualifications would be perfect for me to write about the Master Association and the Sub-association differences.

In this article, I answer in terms of Q & A format some of the question's residents might have concerning the difference between the Master Association and a Sub-association; new residents may not understand exactly how their Sub-association works, and older residents who are in Sub-associations may have questions themselves.

Q: How can I tell if I am in a Sub-association?

A: The easiest way to discern if you are in a Sub-association is to know that your home is attached to another. If so? You are in a Sub-association.

Q: Then what is the Master Association?

A: The Master Association consists of free-standing homes, as well as the attached homes here in Sun City. It is the Master Association that provides for the maintenance, repair, and replacement of the common elements within the community that both the single family and duplexes enjoy as amenities.

Q: So, if I am in a Sub-association, why do I have to answer to the Master Association as well?

A: The Master Association (SCSCAI) is the "blanket" association, under which there are 7,781 homes in our community.

There are 5,742 single-family homes which are subject to only the SCSCAI governing documents, and there are 2,039 homes that are attached and subject to the governing documents of their respective Sub-associations as well as the Master Association governing documents.

It's important to remember that all Sub-associations must adhere to the Master Association regulations which are spelled out in the governing documents, but then the Sub-associations may create more rigid rules and regulations regarding community standards on their own if they wish, and that would also be spelled out in each Sub-association's governing documents.

Q: Does my Sub-association have the power to overrule any of the governing documents of the Master Association?

A: No, it does not.

Q: How many Sub-associations are there and what do they consist of in governing documents?

A: There are 39 Sub-associations within the Master Association. Each of the Sub-associations have their own: 1) Board of Directors, 2) budget, 3) governing documents, and 4) are either self-managed by homeowners who live within the Sub-association or are managed by a management company.

Q: What does my Sub-association do for me?

A: Most of the Sub-associations take care of the exteriors of the homes and anything else to do with the common elements as found in the governing documents of that Sub-association.

Q: Why do I have to pay two dues?

A. The assessment for the Sub-association takes care of the exterior of your home, landscaping and any other common element as defined with the governing documents.

Q: Then what does my dues to the Master Association cover?

A: The Master Association dues covers all the amenities and their upkeep that we offer in our community, employees' salaries, and covers some expenses such as electricity and heat/air conditioning and rooms to the numerous clubs that provide so much to our residents.

Q: How do I know what my Sub-association will cover and do?

A: At the time of the purchase of your home, you should have received a resale package from the seller. The package includes a copy of all the governing documents specific to your Sub-association.

Q: I'm not sure I know who runs my Sub-association – how do I find out?

A: If you do not know who manages your Sub-association, there is a list of the Sub-associations in the LINK each month or on correspondence received from the Sub-association.

This is a brief summary of the most commonly asked questions about Sub-associations, but I'm sure readers who are in a Sub-association may have many more questions than what is covered here.

If you do have questions or concerns, please feel free to e-mail me at kcaroccia@cox.net, and I will answer your questions via e-mail, and in the next edition of Q & A on Sub-associations, if I have your permission. Thank you!
