I know that I run the tightest service company in the business. I belong to a National Organization of highly motivated and technically competent heating and air conditioning contractors. # From the Executive Director

A Great Way to Give Back to Your Community Is to Volunteer

During my time as your Executive Director, I have been extremely impressed with how many homeowners take the time to volunteer. From an all-volunteer Security Patrol to committees on finance, properties, architectural review, legal services and many, many others. Homeowners in Sun City Summerlin care about their community and step up to the task of being a part of moving it forward. In so many communities today it is sometimes very difficult to find the commitment that I see every day here in this development. It's more than dedication, it is a real sense of not only being a part of, but making a contribution to maintain the success that Sun City Summerlin continues to have. A day does not go by that a homeowner will comment to me that they love living here and that it is a great place to call home.

With that, I wanted to share with you what I found that strongly supports the idea of: "A great way to give back to your community is to volunteer."

10 Reasons to Volunteer for Your Community

Source: Community Association Institute

- ♦ Protect your property values and maintain the quality of life in your community.
- ♦ Correct a problem. Is your neighbor's house blue, or do you think maybe the common area maintenance has been neglected.
- ♦ Be sociable. Meet your neighbors, make friends and exchange opinions.
- ♦ Give back to your community.
- ♦ Be a positive part of the future of your community.
- ♦ Have some fun. Association work isn't drudgery. It's fun accomplishing good things with your neighbors.
- ♦ Get educated. Learn how it's done and what the process is.
- ♦ Express yourself. Help with creative projects like community beautification.
- ♦ Your contributions are appreciated by your fellow homeowners, neighbors and friends . . .
- ♦ Use your expertise to help with committees.

Link Website Up and Running at www.suncitylink.com

The Link magazine launched its official website, www.suncitylink.com, during the August 14 Residents' Forum to a full house of Sun City residents. SCSCAI Executive Director and Link Editor Patty Rosia introduced the project and Link Managing Editor Jeannette Carrillo walked residents through the website that features videos, slideshows, expanded community and Association event coverage, as well as live classified ads and more.

The project, which has been in development for over a year, could not have been possible without the hard work and great efforts of the Link staff, freelancers and volunteers. So, a big THANK YOU to: Ken Caroccia, Adrian Cole, Tammy Collins, Stu Gershon, Barry Goldman, Ellen Greenspan, D.J. Minella, Marshall Sitrin, Kim Tuel, Betty and Irwin Weltman, Jeffrey Young and Aileen Zsenyuk.

SCSCAI President's Message

Sun City Summerlin Eyeing Prospect of Solar Energy

The summer went by in a flash – cooler weather is here and finally the air conditioning is not running all day long. Now is a good time to remember to cut back on the watering of plants and lawns.

I want to add one item to the list of initiatives I mentioned last month: SCSCAI's community electric bill is about $600,000 per year, and it won't be going down as rates go up. Among other ways to reduce the electric bill, the Board of Directors is exploring solar energy as a way to generate electricity. This is a very complex initiative and will take some time to see if solar energy can reduce the power bill. The Common Area Properties Committee is running point on the project and ultimately the BOD will vote on the course of action the Association should take. For more information on this subject, read the CAP minutes, attend Board meetings, or at least read the Board minutes to keep up to date on developments.

As I have stated before, when you have a question on why something is done the way it is, attend the appropriate committee meeting (see the schedule published in the LINK) and bring up the issue. For instance, for information or to get a question answered on the golf courses, attend the Golf Oversight Committee meeting headed by Board of Director Assistant Treasurer David Steinman. For budget-related issues, attend the Finance Committee meeting headed by Board of Director Vice President Sue Papilion. Better yet, talk to the chairman of the committee about joining the committee. SCSCAI's committees are made up of lawyers, insurance experts, nurses, engineers and other subject experts who all contribute their time toward making Sun City Summerlin such a great place to live.

Lastly, a plug for the online Link. Take a look at www.suncitylink.com. I think you will like it.

Correction: Last month I thanked Murray Waxman for his efforts for getting the basketball hoop installed at Desert Vista. Senior moment, I should have said Murray Waks. Sorry, Murray.

Winter Is Season to Take Care of Water Pipes

Autumn is here and before you know it, winter will be rearing its head. For that reason, now is the time to plan for the possibility of freezing nights. So before a problem might arise, following are a few suggestions to help you be more prepared:

- ♦ Locate the shut-off valves for your inside and outside water pipes.
- ♦ Disconnect hoses from outside spigots. Leaving hoses connected can cause interior water pipes to freeze and burst even if the valve is closed.

- ♦ Do a thorough check of your house to determine which pipes are most vulnerable to freezing. These will be pipes that are uninsulated, outside, close to outside walls and ones running through an unheated space such as a garage. These can be water-softener pipes, water heater pipes, etc.
- ♦ Open all faucets corresponding to vulnerable pipes and let warm water trickle slightly, maintaining a slight, constant stream. This will help provide relief from the pressure that develops between the ice blockage and the faucet if freezing occurs. Even if the dripping stops, you should still leave the faucet/s open, since a pipe may now be frozen and pressure relief will still be required.
- ♦ Kitchen and bathroom cabinet doors should be kept open to allow warm air to circulate inside and around the pipes.
- ♦ Outside pipes should be fitted with insulation sleeves or wrapped, making sure not to leave gaps exposing the pipe to cold air. Home centers and hardware stores generally carry the necessary materials in the form of fiberglass or foam rubber sleeves.
- ♦ If you are leaving town, set your thermostat to 55-65 degrees Fahrenheit to help keep pipes from freezing.

Common Area Properties (CAP)

Update on Landscape Plan

The August CAP meeting had a lot of new faces in the audience to take part in the discussion of a new landscape plan. It was very exciting for the CAP board members to see so much interest in their new project aimed at saving water by changing our community's landscape.

SCSCAI Director of Landscaping, Louis Darling, made a presentation for the medians on Del Webb Boulevard. Since CAP was so enthusiastic about the concept, a test median (located east of Echo Mesa Drive) will be converted soon to test the idea. The median will have all vegetation, except for the five palm trees, removed. Architecturally interesting rocks and boulders of many sizes, textures and colors will replace the plants. The new design will give residents a peek at an idea that will help save water yet still look attractive. And, it will give landscape department staff a chance to learn new skills.

The new landscape committee was formed as part of CAP to develop the new cost-saving plan. Members will begin by developing long-term goals and produce a mission statement. Eventually, suggestions on concepts will have to be approved by CAP and then by SCSCAI's Board of Directors. Once the concepts are approved, directors from golf maintenance and landscape will set annual action plans by year and location based on what produces the greatest savings on water.

Please feel free to contact Sue Papilion, scsuep@cox.net, if you have any questions or concerns. Remember, we are not ready to talk about what specific plants will be removed; however, the Association has a moratorium on new plants and all dead items are currently being removed.

Landscape

As fall approaches there are things to think about. If you're going to plant bulbs you will need to get them in the ground before the first freeze. Read the package directions as some bulbs need to be brought down from freezing before you can plant them. This is accomplished by storing them in the refrigerator before planting. Also, you can choose bulbs that can be timed so as one finishes blooming another will start.

This season is also a good time to fertilize your plants and get them ready for winter. Be sure to use a well-balanced fertilizer.

FYI: The landscape department will be doing some streetscaping along the median on Del Webb Boulevard in front of Mountain Shadows community center east of Echo Mesa Drive. Please be aware of the workers in this area. We will be working on a design to help reduce SCSCAI's overall water usage. For more information, see the Common Area Properties article on this page.

The landscape department is watering three nights a week – turf on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday; drip on Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the lows reach freezing.

Lattice Panels No Longer Approved by Community Standards

The Architectural Review Committee is in the process of reviewing and revising the Residential Development Standards. During this process, it also is revisiting some items approved under previous versions of the Standards. One such item includes lattice panels.

On June 29, 1998, the Board of Directors adopted the following change to the RDS: "Partial enclosure of the rear patio for privacy and/or sun and wind protection is permitted. Materials: square aluminum tubing, vertical aluminum slats or vine-covered, framed lattice set within the confines of patio pilasters . . ."

In 2005, the RDS were once again revised and adopted by the Board of Directors on May 5, 2005. The section relating to privacy and/or sun and wind protection was changed to the following: "Partial enclosure of the rear patio is permitted for privacy and/or sun and wind protection. Materials must be of square aluminum tubing or vertical aluminum slats set within the confines of patio pilasters . . ." The option of vine-covered, framed lattice was deleted.

Many residents are currently utilizing lattice panels for the purpose of shading their patios. Some residents did apply to the ARC for permission to do so, many did not. Most, if not all of the patio lattice today is without foliage of any type, therefore, not in compliance with the relevant standard.

The ARC no longer approves lattice for any purpose. If these projects were previously approved by the ARC, they are considered grandfathered as long as they are in compliance with the standard in place at that time and are "not permitted to fall into disrepair and each structure shall at all times be kept in good condition and repair and adequately painted or otherwise finished." (CC&Rs, Article IV, Section 2, (j).

In summary, the previously approved lattice will be grandfathered until such time as it becomes deteriorated, unsightly or unsafe.

If you currently are utilizing lattice panels and they have not been maintained, you will be asked to remove them. They cannot be replaced with new lattice panels. You will have to choose another one of the approved materials stated above.

Review Committee*

Surviving Breast Cancer

Breast cancer is the most common type of cancer among American women, except for skin cancers. About one in eight (12 percent) women in the United States will develop invasive breast cancer during their lifetime. And there are more than 2.9 million breast cancer survivors in the U.S. today. While it's tragic that so many people have been affected by the disease, the sheer number of survivors shows the great strides being made in the detection and treatment of breast cancer. Today, most breast cancer survivors will lead fulfilling lives, even as they carry with them the experience of being treated for a very serious illness.

Breast cancer survivors have a number of unique stresses in life. Many who have been treated for breast cancer are afraid that the cancer is still there or that it will come back. While these fears are normal and reasonable, it is possible to cope with such stresses in healthful ways. There are steps that one can take to improve their chances for survival. The most important of which is to seek regular medical care and continue recommended screening after treatment.

Maintaining a Healthy Weight With Activity and Healthy Eating

Maintaining a healthy weight is important for everyone, but it may be even more important for breast cancer survivors. Obesity and weight gain after treatment have been linked to decreased survival rates and cancer recurrence. Regular physical activity and eating a healthy diet is the most effective way to maintain weight. Consult with your physician and a fitness professional before beginning an exercise program.

Social Support

There are many sources of social support for breast cancer survivors through diagnosis, treatment and beyond. Spouses or partners, family members, friends, therapists, spiritual advisors, spiritual communities, online/email discussion groups and health care providers can all provide support as co-survivors. In addition, many survivors expand and strengthen their emotional support systems by joining a formal breast cancer support group. There is evidence that women who are supported through social connectedness tend to cope better psychologically with breast cancer. Some research shows they even may experience better disease outcomes.

HEALTH NUT

Arthritis Club Classes, Warm Weather Works Magic for Sun City's Peggy Powell

Four years ago, just about now, my husband and I moved to Sun City. We had been living for a decade in Genoa, Nevada, the first Nevada settlement about 25 minutes down the Kingsbury Grade from Lake Tahoe. We loved Genoa's country setting and our beautiful home. However, the snowy, cold winters and distance to travel to the Douglas County Swim Center or gyms meant I was spending too many days on my couch.

By 2009, I had already gone through two knee replacements because of osteoarthritis. The doctors were talking about a shoulder replacement and X-rays showed osteoarthritis throughout my bone structure, including some on my ribcage. Something had to give. Our solution was to leave Genoa and come to Sun City, where the air was dry and the weather warm and sunny.

Two weeks after arrival, I joined the Sun City Arthritis pool class and changed the trajectory of my chronic illness. At first, I struggled and often came home and napped. After lunch, things slowly began to improve. I was moving better and not getting as tired. I began to cling to the class as salvation.

Consistency was my rule and one I recommend. I began to add other exercise. My husband and I began to walk an hour in the water on Sundays in the Desert Vista indoor pool. These were serious efforts and although we would visit with other walkers, I worked up to 40 one-way laps in an hour. We installed a recumbent bike under the partial roof of our back patio and I would ride the bike for 30 minutes on days I was not in the pool.

The results were wonderful. My numbers, when tested, were exciting to my doctors. My breathing has improved, my waist has dropped 3 inches. When I was taken off NSAIDS because of worry about my kidney, it quickly returned to normal. The intended results are moving better, improved stamina and controlled pain.

I weigh less than I did upon arrival in Sun City. I continue to get older, thank goodness. I have not needed the dreaded shoulder replacement or any other orthopedic surgery. My doctors beam at me when I show up. I have made friends and attend the nice parties the Arthritis Club has twice a year. I have been so consistent in attendance they made me president.

For some residents, coming to the fitness center can provide a moment of clarity and time to collect thoughts while exercising. It also may provide time to relax. For that reason, please keep in mind that using cell phones on the treadmill or in the gym can be unsafe, rude and distracting to others. If you need to use your cell phone, take your conversations into the lobby or outside, where you can take as much time as needed to discuss personal business.

crews fixed a flooding issue that used to result in pooled water at the back door area of the info center.

To test out the new grass, the Men's Softball Club has challenged the SCSCAI golf maintenance staff to two games on Saturday, October 26 – first pitch at 8 a.m.; second at 9:30 a.m. So, head out to the field and cheer on all of our guys and see what a great job the landscape crews did. ## Sun City Resident Victimized by Relative In Distress Scam

A Sun City resident answered her phone to a caller claiming to be her college-age grandson. His voice didn't sound quite right, but he was crying as he told grandma he was in Niagara Falls, where he claimed to have been in an accident after leaving a party at which he had been drinking alcohol. He was ashamed of his behavior, but he desperately needed $954 to pay for damages to a rental car. Could grandma please help him? The rental car company agreed not to press charges if they were reimbursed for damages to their car. Her grandson was being allowed only one phone call and turned the phone over to his public defender, "Mr. Lambert," who promised to get him out of jail if grandma could quickly help him by wiring the required money.

The rental car company demanded cash. They would not accept a credit card to settle the bill. If the money was not sent immediately, the grandson would be held in jail for several days and would face legal charges in court.

In fact, the entire story was a cruel hoax. The Sun City resident was being scammed by impersonators pretending to be her grandson and a public defender.

According to the resident, "Mr. Lambert" told the distressed grandmother to withdraw the cash and go to Western Union, where she would need a sender form to wire the money to an address he gave her in Canada. And off she went to get the money and to CVS, where, as instructed, she wired a MoneyGram. Although she was warned that everything should remain strictly confidential, grandma reached a family member by phone to learn that her grandson was at home in California, not in Niagara Falls. Realizing she had been victimized, she reported the fraud to MoneyGram, but it was too late to retrieve the funds. The $954 had been picked up in Montreal, Canada.

According to Kathy Perkins, Crime Prevention Specialist with Las Vegas Metropolitan Police, Northwest Area Command, scammers advise their victims to wire money through independent companies because banks will usually question seniors withdrawing large amounts of money when that behavior is uncharacteristic. The action is usually a red flag that the person may be a victim of fraud.

Kathy warns residents to be alert to the "relative in distress" or "grandparent" scam. Law enforcement agencies throughout the nation have experienced an alarming number of victims of RID scams. Grandparents, Kathy said, are particularly common targets of this scam, most often perpetrated by a phone call from an impersonator claiming to be a grandchild in trouble. They are fooled, in part, because they may have only sporadic contact with older grandchildren and not always know their whereabouts. Victims are bountiful in Las Vegas because of the city's high retirement population.

The bad guys are smart; they know that loving grandparents instinctively are protective of their grandchildren and they prey on their vulnerabilities, Kathy said, as they create a stressful, urgent-response scenario. Through social media, scammers also may gather enough personal information to fool their victim. When an impersonator uses a grandchild's name, or a phony public defender addresses you by your correct name, the scam becomes easier to sell. Metro advises residents to ask questions that only your grand-child can answer, and absolutely contact trusted friends or family members to confirm your grandchild's location before sending any money.

"Always question, always verify, and never act without doing so," said Kathy. "A legitimate reason or cause will wait for you."

On April 18, 1923, Babe Ruth hit his first home run in Yankee Stadium, the arena that would later be called "The House That Ruth Built." On September 30, 1973, Sun City Summerlin's own Duane "Duke" Sims, who has lived in the neighborhood for 16 years, hit the last home run in the storied ballpark before it was closed for renovations. Now, 40 years later, let us as the residents of Sun City rejoice in the accomplishments of one of our own.

Residents of Sun City come from most, if not all, of our 50 states, and they come from many countries around the globe. Some of them come from New York, Cleveland, Detroit, Dallas, Los Angeles. We have a gentleman living here who spent his entire major league career, 11 seasons, in these five cities! Duke Sims was a major league catcher, a first base man and a left-fielder for the Indians, Dodgers, Tigers, Yankees and Rangers.

Duke started his career in the minor league, where one of his coaches, Mark Wylie, gave him the name "Duke." Duke never liked his real name, so he stuck with the moniker and it stuck with him. He started his major league career in 1964 with the Cleveland Indians. Duke came up with "Sudden" Sam McDowell, Sonnie Siebert, Louis Tiant and Steve Hargan, forming the nucleus of one of the best pitching staffs in the late 1960s. When he moved on to the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1971, he was the catcher for some of that team's great pitchers, including Hall of Famer Don Sutton. With the Tigers, in 1972, he became part of those Eastern Division champs of the American League, where he had the honor of catching for Woody Fryman and Mickey Lolich.

In 1973, Duke hit the last home run in the original Yankee stadium and a commemorative card was issued with Babe Ruth's picture on it, honoring Ruth's inaugural achievement. The card featured a little-known picture of Babe Ruth and his quotation, "I was lucky to be the first to hit a home run in Yankee stadium. God knows who will be the last."

Duke hit the last one at the "house"

After the season, Duke married his wife, Sonnie, who was an American Airlines flight attendant for 41 years. Duke Sims finished up his major league career in Dallas with the Texas Rangers, where he caught Ferguson Jenkins and Jim Bibby, who won 44 games between them.

Duke retired in 1974 after 14 seasons with exactly 100 home runs.

Duke and Sonnie moved to Sun City Summerlin in 1997, where he continues to play golf, sun bathe, follow politics and continue his Bible study. (Arlington, Texas) with the Texas Rangers, where he caught 20 game winners for Ferguson Jenkins and Jim Bibby.

Duke Sims' baseball career cataloged in Yankee Stadium's home runs, including Babe Ruth's first and his own – the last one hit in "The House that Ruth Built" – in September 1973, prior to the stadium's closing for renovations.
